CHELSEA LICENSE COMMISSIONERS ARE DISMISSED

One of the biggest sensations in political circles in Chelsea occurred to-day, when the Board of Control removed Herbert A. Norton and William Burns from the Licensing Commission.

The board appointed in their places Raymond Alley, a Republican, who was formerly chairman of the Board of Aldermen, as chairman of the commission, and Daniel J. McGivern, present chairman of the Board of Health, a Democrat.

Alley's term is to expire in 1914, and that of McGivern in 1912. In addition, Alexander Leslie is appointed as second Republican member, and the third member of the board.

REFUSED WHEN REQUESTED TO RESIGN.

Last Saturday Chairman Abbott W. Lawrence of the Licensing Commission requested the resignation of both the deposed members, giving them until noon yesterday to resign or be ousted. They refused. To-day they were removed by a vote of 4 to 1. Commissioner George H. Dunham was the only member voting for retainment.

In one of the most remarkable letters ever sent to men marked for removal, the Board of Control informed Messrs. Norton and Burns that their services are to be dispensed with. No charge of graft is made. Frankly in the case of notification of removal from office specific charges are made against the men who are to be removed, or they are informed that their policy has been the reverse of what was desired of them.

No Accusation is Made.

For the first time in the history of Massachusetts men are removed from office against whom no charge is made and whose administration is acknowledged to be all that was desired. The only reason given for the removal of Norton and Burns is that the chairman of the board resigned, but the other sign of the Norton and Burns that the Chelsea Board of Control is "glad and willing to express public approval of the Licensing Board's action and outline of policies."

The Board sent this letter to the deposed commissioners:

The Board of Control has in its hands the resignation of Abbott W. Lawrence, chairman of the Licensing Board, no reason for such resignation being given. As this resignation is final and beyond recall, the Board of Control believes that the best interests of the city will be conserved by organizing an entirely new licensing board. In reaching such decision the Board of Control fully recognizes the efforts of the members of the Licensing Board, and is glad and willing to express public approval of the Licensing Board's action and outline of policies.

Pursuant to the above such your resignation has been requested and not tendered the Board of Control hereby removes you as member of the Licensing Board of the city of Chelsea.

CHARLES H. REED,
Executive Chairman Board of Control.

Rumors of Graft Answered.

For several weeks there have been rumors of graft, it being hinted that members of the Licensing Commission had promised licenses to certain applicants for licenses and had received money for their promises. This the board answers by saying that the men are perfectly honest.

It was necessary to appoint the new board to-day, as the licenses commissioners can grant licenses commencing to-morrow, April 1, and if they had not been removed to-day Norton and Burns could issue the licenses to-morrow.

The new board will meet to-morrow night, and, it is believed, will follow the policies established by the retiring licensing board.

Commissioner Dunham, the one member of the Board of Control who voted to retain the members, said that their work on the licensing commission had been perfectly satisfactory, and for that reason he refused to vote for their removal.

The original trouble with the members of the commission started because of the interference of the Board of Control in attempting to name who should have licenses.

GIRL WHO WOKE UP SLEEPERS AS BUILDING BURNED

MISS ANNA L. LYONS.

The heroine of the block around No. 941 Washington street to-day is Anna Loraine Lyons, a pretty girl who gave a dashing exhibition of nerve and courage last night when fire swept the building. It was due to her that the fire did not result in loss of life.

Miss Lyons, who is employed by the Chickering Piano Company, is a modest young woman. Even on account of her rescue work given to-day, she didn't do anything unusual and she is surprised that she didn't faint or "do some other foolish thing."

"The way we are situated here," she said, "living right above a hardware store where they keep boiler oil and all such other inflammable material, it is really a wonder that this fire never happened before. When I saw the smoke I was not scared so much at the fear of fire as that heat there would be an explosion and we should all be blown to kingdom come.

"The smoke in the hallways was very thick, and I knew the location of the rooms and I knew all the occupants, so, after all, it wasn't so very difficult to do what I did. My mother is an invalid, and after I saw her safely out of the building I gathered more nerve."

PLAN TRIP TO VESUVIUS FOR ROOSEVELT

NAPLES, March 31.—Interest in the threatened eruption of Mount Vesuvius has given away to the excitement over the arrival of Theodore Roosevelt and his party. Ex-President arrives here Saturday, the city will be safete.

Mr. Roosevelt, on the steamer Prinz Heinrich, is making a record-breaking trip from Alexandria. Word has been received indirectly by wireless that the Roosevelt party will reach Naples Saturday morning. This will enable the former President, it is believed, to witness the eruption of Mt. Etna.

High honor will be paid to the returning hunter here on his way to Rome when he will meet the King and Pope. The plans for his welcome are rounded into shape to-day in order that there might be no hitch when the steamer Prinz Heinrich arrives. According to a plan broached to-day Colonel Roosevelt will be given an opportunity to visit Mt. Vesuvius and inspect the crater if he wishes to do so.

Although the party will have little time to spare before leaving for Rome, those advising the welcome him would like to include a trip to Mt. Vesuvius. The present indications, therefore, are that Mr. Roosevelt will have exceptional scenic opportunities.

It is believed 50,000 strangers will be here to welcome Mr. Roosevelt. Commander Sperry, naval attache of the embassy at Rome, at the personal request of Mr. Roosevelt will meet him here and accompany him on the tour of Italy, Austria and Germany.

NEW STREET PLAN IS CONSIDERED

To determine the opinion of property owners and tenants on Providence street on the proposed widening of the thoroughfare by the Park Square Land Trust, the Street Commissioners gave an informal hearing to-day.

The estimated cost of the widening would be $178,114, grade damages being assessed at $140,000 and the cost of construction at $28,844. Half of this amount of money could be assessed on the abutting property.

The plans of the Park Square Trust is to build a street sixty feet wide parallel to present Providence street and built entirely on the newly acquired land of the trust, on the site of the old Park Square station, and running as far as the Arlington street extension. This would make Providence street 100 feet wide and necessitate a five foot change in grade.

Burton E. Eames, the only one who appeared in direct opposition, told of damage that would result to Boylston street property backing on Providence street.

CHARGES FRAUD IN WEDDING RECORD

Charging in the East Cambridge Probate Court to-day that Clarence F. Glover and Mrs. Lillian M. Glover were never married, Lawyer John J. Scott made the further astonishing statement that a committee of Waltham citizens had waited upon the couple at their home, protested against their conduct and that Mrs. Glover had procured her marriage certificate by fraud, in order to stop further public protest. The charge came out in an effort of lawyer Scott to amend his bill of complaint in the contest of Glover's will.

Judge McIntire refused to allow the attorney to amend the complaint, on the ground that it would take conclusive evidence that there was no marriage to offset the statement by Glover in his will that Lillian M. Glover was his wife.

STANLEY TELLS OF TALK TO WIFE IN HOSPITAL.

Bernard W. Stanley, who spent three quarters of an hour in the company of Mrs. Glover in the Cousens Hospital while she waited there on the night of the shooting, told of his conversation with her. He said that they had talked about hunting and fishing in the Provinces and about the Harvard-Yale football game that day.

Stanley denied how Mrs. Glover had told how she, her husband and Hattie Le Blanc had driven to Harvard square to see the Harvard-Yale football game. Mrs. Glover testified that they did not do this; that they had gone home and that Mr. Glover at supper said he would have a bottle of beer that she and written some letters after Hattie Le Blanc left the house; that she had called up Mrs. George A. Freeman and had a long talk with her over the telephone, and then Mrs. Cousens had phoned her about the shooting. Mrs. Glover testified that a policeman told her about the shooting.

The witness told how the doctors had tried to get Mrs. Glover to go up stairs to see her husband and that she had objected, fearing the sight. Stanley told her that Dr. Cousens would not allow her to look at anything unsightly, but she declined to go. She walked about most of the time, was pale, nervous and clasped her hands.

Just previous to this the attorneys for the contestants had made an unsuccessful fight to bring Hattie Le Blanc into the court to testify. Attorney Johnson, her counsel, opposed it on the ground that it might imperil her case. It was stated that Hattie was wanted only to testify as to whom she talked and ate with during the three days and nights she was in the Glover home following the murder.

Will Contest May Be Held Up.

When Judge McIntire refused to grant the request of the lawyers, Lawyer Gove intimated that it might hold up the will contest indefinitely.

Dr. Frederick L. McDonald finished his estimony to-day. He swore that Glover while dying declared five times that Hattie Le Blanc shot him, and that he thought Glover was telling the truth. He testified that he would naturally have expected that Mrs. Glover would show some emotion under the circumstances.

Lawyer Elmore asked if Glover's mysterious question about his wife, "she won't shoot me, will she?" was not in reality "She won't scold me, will she?" Dr. McDonald said that he was positive Glover said "shoot" and not "scold." Judge McIntire inquired if there had been anything said that would draw forth this question from the dying man, and the doctor said that there had not been.

Dr. McDonald also testified that Glover had told him that he did not know why Hattie Le Blanc had shot him. In the course of the testimony Judge McIntire remarked to Lawyer Scott that the testimony was not clear on the point that Hattie had shot Glover and that the dying statement that she did, did not make it so.

Never Saw Mrs. Glover Before.

Attorney Johnson, senior counsel for Hattie LeBlanc, was in court. Dr. McDonald was cross-examined by Elmore.

Q.—How long had you known Mrs. Glover before November 20th, 1909? A.—Not at all. I don't remember of ever having seen her before.

Q.—You are quite sure that you never saw her prior to that night when she called at the hospital? A.—Not to know her.

Q.—Did you admit her to the hospital that night? A.—Yes.

Q.—How did you know it was she? A.—She told me.

Q.—Can you accurately interpret the emotions of persons who you have never seen before by listening to their voice or looking at their face or features? A.—I could satisfy my own mind.

Q.—Suppose a woman had caught her husband acting wrongfully; suppose, further, that she had after repeated promises on his part forgiven him and taken him back into her confidence; suppose that eight months later out of the stillness of night that she had learned that he had repeated his offence and that the girl dismod before had shot him fatally, and that he was dying, would you expect her to show grief or resentment upon hearing of that information?

"Put Question Properly."

Attorney Scott objected. Judge McIntire asked on what ground. "Tals witness is not an expert on the subject," said Mr. Scott. Judge McIntire interrupted and said:

"I can see one reason why that question is faulty and objectionable. You are assuming, Mr. Elmore, that Mr. Glover was shot by Hattie Le Blanc. There is no testimony which is clear on that point."

"Yes," replied Elmore, "but there is dying statement from Mr. Glover that Hattie had shot him."

"But that don't make the fact that she did it," replied Judge McIntire, "I want the question put properly."

Elmore then said: "I desire to amend the question and in place of the words 'that he was shot by this self-same girl' substitute the words 'that she was told that he was shot by that girl.' Will you now answer that question, bearing in mind my amendment? A.—I don't propose to give any opinion here.

Q.—Have you any opinion? A.—Yes.

Q.—What is it? A.—I decline to give an opinion unless I am asked to do so.

Hypothetical Question.

Judge McIntire instructed the witness to answer the question. A.—I should think it would depend wholly on her state of mind at the time and also how thoroughly she had wiped out this other account from her mind.

Q.—Suppose that she had honestly forgiven him and taken him back into her confidence and that suddenly she had been told that he had returned to his factory building to meet the same girl? (Macfarland objected because it wasn't in evidence that she was told that Hattie Le Blanc had shot him. "She said," said Macfarland. "That she was told at the hospital that a Mrs. Hill shot him." Lawyer Gove supported the objection and recalled the testimony in which Mrs. Glover said that she had been told by Mrs. Hill shot her husband. Judge McIntire said: "You may put the question and insert in it, 'if she had been told.'")

Q.—Suppose that her state of mind was that of a wife who had honestly forgiven her husband and had agreed not to mention the matter again and if she had been informed that he had been shot while resorting for improper purposes to his factory building with that servant, in his state of mind would you expect grief or resentment? A.—I should think that you say Mrs. Glover at the hospital? A.—I shouldn't be surprised at grief and would expect her to show emotion.

Q.—Would you expect her to show considerable resentment? A.—I shouldn't say especially so.

"Didn't Mention Will."

Q.—Who was it that acted with Glover if he wanted to see his wife when he returned? A.—Lillian Hill. She is typist in Dowd of Congress street, Waltham.

Q.—Did you on any time during any of the doctors ask him if he desired to make a will and his replying, "That is all fixed, and I'm satisfied with my will—I heard no mention of the will. I don't know what you are getting done about his affairs, and he said, 'No.'"

Q.—Did you hear him say to anybody, "Telephone to the auto to come to 1000 Spruce street. Go around and take it to Moore's garage"? A.—I didn't hear it personally.

Q.—Has any one told you that he heard

GOVERNMENT TO PUSH THE FARO CASES

Prosecution of the members of the Boston "faro gang," who, it is alleged, swindled George W. Coleman out of $180,000, which he had stolen from the National City Bank of Cambridge, will begin at once. The members of the gang will be arrested by the Federal authorities after ever they can be found, and they will be tried probably in New York as the crime was committed in that city.

The decision to prosecute the members of the "faro gang" was made in New York at a conference between United States District Attorney French and officials of the Department of Justice. Mr. French left Washington last night, and went to New York, where he conferred there to-day with United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise.

The members of the gang will be charged with "aiding and abetting in the misapplication of the funds of the National City Bank of Cambridge." No charge of tampering with the books of the bank will be made against the men.

Some of the members of the gang are in Boston now. They are all being shadowed day and night by officers from the United States Marshal's office. They will all be arrested when the word is given. Other members of the gang are hiding in New York. They will be arrested at the same time. They have been seen hanging about the haunts of sporting men in New York, and all their movements are known to the United States officials in that city.

George W. Coleman will go on trial at the Federal building in Boston next Tuesday morning. His trial will be a short one, as there will be no defence. Coleman himself has declared that he expects he will be sentenced to serve from ten to fifteen years in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. Charles W. Morse, former banker, is a prisoner there.

The prosecution of the faro gang by the Federal officials takes their cases completely out of the hands of the Boston police and the Suffolk County courts. After the United States court gets through with the men the police would then be free to take up the many charges that they have swindled Boston out of thousands of dollars during the past ten years.

REPORT ON A LEGED POISONER

The lunacy commission appointed to examine Mrs. Mary Kelleher, who is charged with murder in the first degree on six counts by poisoning, made an oral report to Judge William B. Stevens and William S. Dana in the Superior Criminal Court at East Cambridge to-day, declaring that Mrs. Kelleher is sane.

The commission consisted of Dr. Edwin R. Utley, physician at the House of Correction, East Cambridge; Dr. Henry R. Stedman, of the Taunton State Asylum, and Dr. George L. Walton of the Massachusetts General Hospital. The last two named were experts who examined James M. Harmon, Jr., before his conviction for the murder of Maud Hartley.

Mrs. Kelleher was in court when the commission reported to the judge's lobby. She was in the best condition that she has been since her commitment. Her color was good and she chatted pleasantly with Sheriff Fairbairn and her counsel, Hugh Bancroft.

Bancroft to Renew Motion.

A short conference followed the report of the commission to the judges. Lawyers for Mrs. Kelleher and from the District Attorney's office were present. Judge Stevens acquainted them with the report of the commission.

Attorney Bancroft then announced that he intended to renew the motion that was overruled last January. This motion relates that Mary Kelleher is charged with separate murders on separate dates, which fact unduly prejudices against a fair trial. Mr. Bancroft asks that the court direct the district Attorney to choose one count.

Attorney Bancroft declared that it had been said that all of the victims were insured for the benefit of the defendant. He said this was not true, as only four were insured for her benefit.

Another complaint was regarding the statement that arsenic enough had been found to kill several persons. He denied this. Mr. Bancroft then argued for trial on a single count.

Higgins Opposes Motion.

District Attorney Higgins opposed the motion. He admitted that the counsel for the defence should be given a few weeks more in which to prepare. He then said:

"The attorneys for the defence say that they have a perfectly obvious and apparent explanation. I say that if there is such an obvious and apparent explanation, it would be very glad to not press the case. Or I will have a jury impanelled and order a verdict of not guilty on each count. We have tried to find an explanation, but can't. I don't ask the lawyers to show their hands, but the court should not be put to the expense of trial if such an obvious explanation should be made.

"I have agreed, against the advice of my associates and in my desire to be fair to counsel for the defence, to try the case upon the original four counts, which will eliminate Stephen Kelleher, one of the strongest of the counts and for the largest amount of insurance. I feel that the accused will not suffer thereby."

Official announcement to this effect was made to-day at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America here. The men will stay out till the operators agree to the raise in wages of five cents a ton, according to the union leaders.

The united mine workers of Illinois today reported to the national body that permission had been given in the Western Brick Company at Danville to keep its several hundred coal miners at work till the new wage scale is signed.

Representatives of the mine workers for District No. 2 to-day began conferences with the Central Pennsylvania Bituminous Coal Operators Association in an attempt to adjust the wage scale.

WOMAN ASKS ACCOUNTING IN JONES SUIT

Seeking an accounting of property valued at $75,000, proceedings will begin in the suit of Mrs. Annie Stanley of New York against George R. Jones, formerly president of the Jones Brick Company, and attorney of this city. The hearings will be conducted before Josiah H. Benton, who was appointed master in chancery to-day by Judge Fessenden.

Mrs. Stanley seeks an accounting in connection with $78,000 she entrusted to Mr. Jones' management and wants him directed to transfer to her the properties at No. 16 Hanson street, No. 234 West Canton street, No. 11 Waltham street and Nos. 23 and 23 Millmont street, all of which stand in his name.

Jones is a cousin of Mrs. Stanley's late husband. She alleges that she entrusted $78,000 to Jones for investment, giving him power of attorney to sell and convey all her real estate and to discharge mortgages. She says he used the money as his own and alleges that what she supposed to be income was in reality payments from the principal.

In his answer Jones admits that the plaintiff gave him authority to invest, but says that the exercise of this power was always under her direction and will. Although Mrs. Stanley made her home with him, she traveled a great deal, and it was for convenience that she gave him power of attorney.

The women relatives and friends of the striking car men, who have formed an auxiliary to the union, to-day declared that they would defy the police and parade on Saturday as they had planned if permission for the demonstration is not given. Miss Lavila Twining of the Western Federation of Miners and president of the auxiliary, to-day declared that the women would not ask the police for a permit. "We do not fear police clubs," she said.

AWAY GOES INDIGESTION, GAS AND ALL OTHER STOMACH MISERY

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after you begin.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common everyday cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

GLOVERS NEVER MARRIED, ASSERTS ATTORNEY SCOTT

Mr. Glover make the statement? A.—I heard it said by one person, but it was hearsay to him.

Q.—Who was it? A.—Dr. Conseos.

Q.—Did Mr. Glover in your presence say who shot him? A.—Yes.

Q.—How many times did you hear him say who shot him? A.—Several times, surely over four or five.

Q.—Did you give a statement to my associate, Mr. Tupper, about the occurrence? A.—I had a talk with him.

Q.—Did you tell him that you had heard Mr. Glover say at least two times who had shot him? A.—That is in line with my other answer.

Q.—Was he perfectly rational when he made those statements? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you in your statement to Mr. Tupper say, "I have no doubt from his appearance and from my observation of what he said and did, that he was telling the truth?" A.—I did.

Q.—Did you make this statement to Mr. Tupper: "She, Mrs. Glover, said she did not feel equal to it," and that "She was too much overcome when I asked her if she wanted to see Mr. Glover?" A.—I don't remember the word "overcome." The statement I made to Mr. Tupper came back to me and I made several changes.

Q.—Do you remember making this statement to Mr. Tupper: "I went to her and again asked her if she did not feel equal to it and she said, 'No'"? A.—Perhaps I was not cool and collected. Her appearance showed she was under a terrific strain.

—That is the sum and substance.

Accused Girl Ten Times.

Q.—On the ten times that you heard him say who shot him did he always mention the same person. A.—Yes.

Q.—Whom did he name those ten times? A.—Hattie Le Blanc.

Q.—Did you hear Mr. Glover say, "She won't shoot me, will she?" and then he was asked if he wanted to see his wife? A.—Yes.

Q.—Where were you, in the room? A.—I was in the hall of the bed.

Q.—Was his speech clear? A.—It was remarkably clear all through the evening.

Q.—Could you say that he said, "She won't scold he, will she?" A.—I am positive about the word he used.

Q.—And the word could not have been "scold" instead of "shoot"? A.—I am positive.

Q.—How many times did you hear him say that he did not want to see his wife? A.—Two or three times.

Q.—Were you preparing to operate on him when he made that remark? A.—We had given up the idea.

Q.—Was he anxious to have you operate? A.—He spoke about it.

Q.—Did you speak to Mr. Glover while he was lying on the steps at the entrance of the hospital, and if so, what was said by you and him? A.—I asked him what the trouble was. He said Hattie was shot. I asked him, who shot him. He said, "A woman." I said, "What woman?" and he said, "Hattie Le Blanc."

Q.—Did he show any hesitancy in answering the last question? A.—Not at all.

Told Him He Was Low.

Q.—Did you tell him he was going to die? A.—I did not.

Q.—Did you give him to understand that he could not live? A.—I told him that he was low. I wanted to convey the impression that he could not live.

Attorney Scott questioned at this point.

Q.—When you saw him lying on the stairs, did you ask him special strength as to his ability to get around? A.—He spent all his strength in getting where he was.

Q.—About 10 o'clock that night, while you were making an examination of Mr. Glover, did he say anything as to who Hattie Le Blanc shot him? A.—Yes, he did. He said, "I don't know why she shot me."

Q.—Did he say that or did he say, "I don't know why she should shoot me"? A.—I could not swear to the words. I am positive I said, "I don't know why she shot me." I thought he was worrying at the time.

Judge McIntire then asked:

Q.—Have you told us all the conversation with reference to the shooting of Mr. Glover said, "Will she shoot me?" when somebody asked him if he wanted to see his wife? Was there any remark which called forth that answer? Was there anybody who he should make it? A.—Not at all.

Asks for Writ for Hattie.

Q.—By the Courts or anybody in defense why he should say that? A.—No.

This ended Dr. McDonald's testimony. Attorney Scott then presented a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to bring Hattie Le Blanc from jail to the court for the purpose of testifying. Judge McIntire said:

"I think I shall have to ask you for what purpose you want the writ to issue for."

"We want to show by Hattie Le Blanc's testimony the relations which existed between Mr. Glover and Mrs. Glover at the time of the shooting, and before and after that time. This witness will testify to certain facts bearing on the question of murder intent. If Your Honor will allow us to question the witness on the second issue, we should like to show from Hattie certain things regarding the killing."

Judge McIntire said:

"You are aware, are you not, that the condition of Hattie is one of great peril, and that she should be protected from anything injurious to herself?"

Girl's Interests at Stake.

"We have gone over the matter carefully," said Scott, "and we realize that she is in a perilous condition and that some time might involve her, but there is just one question on the second issue that we would like to ask her about, and who else but the person who is charged with killed. We do not intend to ask her any question with reference to the night of the killing."

Judge McIntire said: "I don't think this court can compel her to answer any questions that her counsel would object to. Her counsel, Mr. Johnson, is here and I would like to know his attitude. I shall leave it to him as to whether she come here and testify."

Attorney Johnson said:

"I have discussed this question with Mr. Scott and his associates and I have carefully examined the law on the subject matter. It goes so far as to say that a person who is accused or who is likely to be accused, and my client comes within that might be used as any one link in the chain of evidence against her. I have talked with Hattie about testifying as to her life with the children, and that is the only life she has since January 1 last. I think that she should testify about her life before living with the Glovers. I feel it my duty as representing her to instruct her not to answer any questions in this court, and it seems useless to proceed further, as I am obliged to object to the issuance of this writ, and I have told counsel that I would do so."

A Much Needed Witness.

Attorney Scott said:

"It seems to us that Hattie Le Blanc is an important witness in this case for the purpose of showing the relations of Mr. Glover and Mrs. Glover toward each other. Also for the purpose of showing the condition of mind of each toward the other. Also to show the influence exerted by Mrs. Glover toward her husband, and therefore we ask for this writ, recognizing, of course, that no attempt on the part of the court shall be made to compel her to testify against the objections of her counsel. In course, her position is a perilous one, we realize that. Having done our duty in inspiring for this writ, I may place it in the position where we may ask that the trial be suspended because of the refusal of the court to grant the writ or other steps as we ought to do."

Judge McIntire said: "I feel compelled to refuse this writ. I feel that it is the only proper position that it is. I feel constrained can take in the matter. I therefore refuse it."

Attorney Scott then announced that he would file an amended bill of particulars. The bill alleges that the Glovers were married by the Reverend Elmore Williams in this room and Attorney Scott offered these reasons for wishing to amend the bill of particulars:

"Since the original bill was filed in this court we have obtained evidence upon which to our mind show that Lillian M. Glover was never married to Clarence Francis Glover. We learned that in 1902 that Grover F. Glover was married in the commonwealth of Massachusetts in which he said he had no wife. The deed was signed by the Metropolitan Improvement Company to Park Commission of the city of Waltham and Grover F. Glover. They best proof to be a fraud and would subject him to the penalty of the law, if it was not time."

Introduced as Housekeeper.

"I have examined the signature on the certificate of marriage and find that it is different from every other signature that I have seen. We have also obtained evidence which to our mind show that Lillian M. Glover was never married to Clarence Francis Glover. We learned that in 1902 that Grover F. Glover was married in the commonwealth of Massachusetts in which he said he had no wife. The deed was signed by the Metropolitan Improvement Company to Park Commission of the city of Waltham and Grover F. Glover. They best proof to be a fraud and would subject him to the penalty of the law, if it was not time."

"Fourth, I am trying to show that the certificate was a mere necessity. A committee of Waltham citizens waited on them while they were living in sin and objected to their living together as man and wife. We contend that she procured this certificate by fraud, and that she did so in order to stop the people of Waltham from further protesting.

Judge McIntire ruled that he must deny the petition, saying:

"After proceeding so far in the trial, in order to open a new issue conclusive testimony must be offered to offset the petition made by Clarence Glover in his wife's behalf. I cannot see how Hattie's testimony on that reason I must deny the petition."

Bernard W. Stanley of No. 7 Almond street, Waltham, was called. He testified that he went to the hospital on the night of the murder with some alcohol. He was questioned by Judge McIntire.

Q.—While in room was Mrs. Glover in when you first saw her? A.—I first caught a glimpse of her in the hall talking to one of the doctors.

Q.—Did you speak to you first or did you speak to her first? A.—I think she spoke to me first. She was very much excited over the tragedy; I can't recall what it was about. After some of the excitement died down Mrs. Glover if she wished to see her husband she told me that she had brought Hattie Le Blanc from the prison. She told her that I had been down there last Summer on a fishing trip, and that I knew that she had been down in the woods on hunting and fishing trips with Mr. Glover very often. I told her that I had been to the Hattie-Wake football game with them one time and she said that she had been to a game that day. She said that she had gone to Harvard Square in the automobile with Mr. Glover and Hattie to see the large crowd. She said that after she got home that evening she asked Mr. Glover if he wanted to make some coffee for her and him, and that he said, "No, just get me a bottle of beer."

Told of Her Movements.

She told me that afterward Mr. Glover had gone out, and that Hattie left the house three-quarters of an hour later. Mrs. Glover then told me that she wrote some letters after Hattie went out and talked with Mrs. Freeman a long time over the telephone, and that shortly after she was notified by Dr. Conseos that Mr. Glover had been shot. She said that he was then undergoing a severe operation and that the weight of blood would overcome her and that therefore she could not see Mr. Glover. I said to her:

"Why, Dr. Conseos is a very careful physician and wouldn't let you see your husband if everything wasn't all right." Mrs. Glover then said to me: "I know that I would be overcome."

Q.—Did you say anything to the purpose of getting her to go upstairs to see her husband? A.—After the doctor had said her that she could go upstairs to see her husband I told her that Dr. Conseos would not tell her to go and see him if there was anything unsightly.

HOLD THREE FOR LOOTING 30 CHURCHES

Three young men, who admitted, the police say, to breaking into thirty churches and robbing the poor boxes in them, today pleaded guilty in the Roxbury District Court to four counts of breaking and entering and larceny. Judge Williams held them for the Grand Jury, asking $4,000 bail each. The men, who are hardly more than boys, said they had come here from Fall River to do the work. They were detected at St. Francis de Sales Church in Roxbury.

The prisoners are Harry Farmer, aged 20, of No. 91 Buttonwood street, Dorchester; George Hendricken, aged 22, of No. 5 Bellevue street, Dorchester, and Charles Herman, 20, of No. 127 Princeton street, East Boston.

Herman, the police say, is a veteran at the work of robbing church poor boxes. The police declare the young men say that while they didn't get very much from the poor boxes, they got enough to feed and clothe them.

Herman, it is said, was the spokesman for the party. Farmer and Hendricken grinned as he answered the questions asked by the police. He told the patrolmen, they say, the names of several churches which he and his companions broke into.

BIG NEW YORK POLICE SHIFT IN WAR ON GRAFT

NEW YORK, March 31.—Mayor Gaynor's threat of a big police shake-up was fulfilled to-day when Inspector McCaffery was deposed as head of detectives and Inspector John H. Russell, now in a downtown district, was put in his place. McCaffery was sent to a Brooklyn district. Six captains were transferred and Commissioner Baker announced that the whole police system would be re-arranged.

The changes made to-day and the many more to follow are the result of constant and bitter charges from City Hall that graft and extortion have been the order of the past in the department. The decree has gone forth that decency and orderliness must prevail inside the department. The uniformed police are badly worried to-day, while the plain clothes men, to whom most of the grafting has been attributed, are in terror.

Commissioner Baker stated that steps would be taken immediately to enforce Mayor Gaynor's order to the police in regard to their attitude in seeing that the excise law is complied with. Under this rule the police must make arrests directly.

EARTH TREMOR FELT ACROSS CONTINENT

Scientists to-day are waiting for news of a severe earthquake which is supposed to have occurred in Japan or Eastern Asia, tremors from which were felt across the United States. The seismograph at the Harvard observatory oscillated for an hour and the same disturbance was recorded at the observatories at Cleveland, St. Louis, Albany and Seattle.

CONCERT BY STARS SUNDAY

Oscar Hammerstein will close his second and, it is announced positively, his last operatic season in Boston with an operatic concert on Sunday evening at the Boston Theatre. A feature of the concert will be the first and only appearance in Boston of Orville Harrold, the young American tenor, whom Mr. Hammerstein met Fall "discovered" singing in vaudeville. Mr. Hammerstein will send Mr. Harrold to Jean De Reszke in Paris this Summer to be polished and coached. "The best tenor voice of the century," is Mr. Hammerstein's opinion of the young man.

Mme. Mazarin also will be heard Sunday evening as will Mme. Carmen-Melis, who has not taken part in one of the operatic performances. It is said she is coming to Boston to live. Boston will also hear Mlle. Lalla Miranda, "The American Tetrazzini," a reformed soprano who alternates with Mme. Tetrazzini at Covent Garden, London. Mlle. Emma Trentini will sing Musetta's waltz song from "La Boheme," while Mr. Charles Gilbert is also on the list. MM. Derries and Defrasne will sing the duo from "The Pearl Fishers" and Mme. Dorin will render the aria from "The Huguenots." Another artist on the program is Armand Crabbe, the clarinetist, who will include the Tschaikowsky "1812" overture, directed by M. de la Fuente, and the "Martha" overture and Ritzi's "L'arlesienne" conducted by St. Anselm.

POLICE HUNT FOR 'FLOATERS'

The police listing of voters begins tomorrow morning at 8:45 o'clock. The listing is one month earlier this year. About 1,400 policemen are to do the work, which will take about five days.

The listing will cost Boston about $25,000. Last year it cost $24,000, the printing alone amounting to $15,000.

Colonization is to be prevented if possible. There are about twenty large lodging houses in the city, and the listing in these is to be done by lieutenants and sergeants only. In every instance possible the lodgers are to be questioned personally.

MAYOR AFTER TAX DODGERS

Mayor Fitzgerald addressed all the assessors to-day upon the necessity of exacting particular vigilance in detecting tax dodgers. The assessors start out to-morrow to levy the annual assessment on real and personal estate, and the meeting was to organize.

The Mayor pointed out that through the change in law work is begun a month earlier than usual and that this should afford the assessors an opportunity to tax people who have left the city just before May 1 to escape the assessors. He said that he expected a large increase in the personal valuation, which increase has not kept pace with the increase in population. Mr. Fitzgerald urged that particular attention be devoted to the values of down town real estate.

BABY IS LEFT ON DOORSTEPS

A tiny golden-haired baby boy is at the Charles Street Home to-day awaiting its transfer to the authorities when it will become the ward of the State. The child, which is about two weeks old, was left on the doorstep of No. 20 South street, Brighton, last night. It is believed that the child's mother, unable to care for her baby, left the child there in the hope that it would be given a good home.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Baldwin heard a feeble cry last night and found the baby on their doorsteps. It had a long white dress, white coat and fur bonnet, all of good material. Pinned to the baby's dress was a scrap of paper on which a woman had written in a trembling hand, "Roy Selwyn."

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But thousands of irritable, nervous, tired and broken-down women have restored their health and strength by the use of Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

Swamp-Root brings new life and activity to the kidneys, the cause of such troubles.

May send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, will do for them. SEEK $12,000,000 ESTATE IN IRELAND

F. Aubury Dickson, a machinist living at No. 73 Florence street, Worcester, and Mrs. Clinton I. Lord, 16 Dryden street, that city, are in conference with L. T. Parker, a Boston attorney, relative to their claim of a share in the estate of Margaret Savage of Dublin, Ire., who left an estate valued at $12,000,000.

NEW TERMINAL OPENING.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Assurances have been given the Pedestrice Department by the Pennsylvania Railroad that it will begin running trains under the Hudson to its new Manhattan terminal by June 1.

JAPANESE PLOT IS SUSPECTED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Major-General William P. Duvall, commanding the American troops in the Philippines, is investigating a report that a large colony of Japanese has been formed on one of the minor islands and that arms and ammunition have been smuggled to them by Japanese boats. This news was given out today by army officers who returned from the island on the transport Thomas.

The AMERICAN goes into more homes than all the other evening papers of Boston combined. It is the Quality newspaper.

RAT SCARES WOMAN AND STARTS BLAZE

When Mrs. Oddie S. Tracy of No. 28 Lawrence street, Charlestown, went into a closet to get her husband's coat, carrying a lighted lamp early today, a big rat leaped from one of the shelves upon her shoulder. Mrs. Tracy screamed and dropping the lamp fled. The lamp exploded and before the firemen could put out the flames two rooms had been gutted at a loss of $200.

TOWN NEARLY DESTROYED.

UTICA, N. Y., March 31.—A large section of the village of Stittville, ten miles north of here, was wiped out by fire today. The loss exceeds $100,000.

RICH WOMAN HIRES LAWYER FOR WOLTER

NEW YORK, March 31. Albert Walter, suspected of the murder of Ruth Wheeler, gave employment as an attorney in court today by rejecting his lawyer's plea of not guilty and refusing to plead to the murder indictment against him. Immediately after he had refused to make a plea his attorney, W. B. Scott, requested ten days in which to prepare the plea. Judge Mulqueen permitted an extension of twenty-four hours.

A report was current today that Mrs. John Murray Mitchell of Toronto, wife of the former Congressman, had furnished the money to retain Mr. Scott. A police official said today:

"I understand that a very wealthy woman retained counsel for Walter. She did it from sheer sympathy. She said she could not bear to think but the mother of Walter had not the satisfaction of knowing that all possible would be done to prove the innocence of her son. She believed that no matter how atrocious the crime of which Walter is accused, his family deserve all the aid and sympathy that can be bestowed on them.

"It would be legal butchery to railroad this case as it is planned," said Lawyer Scott. "It is absolutely unjust to force a man to trial with only forty-eight hours' notice. Walter is innocent, and if I have only the ordinary length of time granted an attorney for the defense I can prove it.

The defence is said to have come upon evidence that there was another man in Walter's room when Ruth Wheeler was killed and that he has disappeared.

Walter was led to the jail, which makes him appear to be the murderer, according to the line of defense in fear of being confounded with the real murderer.

SAINT OR DEVIL?—Most remarkable murder mystery of the century. Read it in the Sunday American.

REQUIEM MASS FOR MISS JACKMAN, 101

The burial was in St. Augustine's Cemetery, South Boston.

FIRE IN TENEMENT.

Fire in one of the rooms in the six tenement block at No. 39 Rose street, South End, today caused excitement among the women and children. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Max Wyanski, who carried her three-year-old son Meyer into the street and gave the alarm. The damage was slight.

COUNT CLINGS TO POOR GIRL

BERLIN, March 31.—The papers today publish the series of caustic letters exchanged between Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany and Count Ferdinand von Hochberg, which was given publicity in New York as the result of Woods Hutchinson, Jr., being charged with the misappropriation of $20,000 of the assets of the Cottonwood Creek Copper Company, of which he was president, and in which Von Hochberg induced his friends in Germany to invest $150,000. Count Ferdinand, who married a shop girl, has refused to quit her.

AGAINST ALLDS'S COUNSEL.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 31. Senator Agnew introduced a resolution today to put both Lewis E. Carr, counsel for Senator Allds, for contempt.

500 DRIVEN OUT BY FACTORY FIRE

NEW YORK, March 31.—More than 500 persons were driven from their homes early today during a $50,000 fire which destroyed the factory of the Plewen Wood Turning Company in Walton street, Williamsburg. Two several hours the tenements and Stein's silk factory were imperiled.

$500 ROXBURY FIRE.

A defective flue set fire today to the house at No. 6 Robinson place, Roxbury, owner by Virginia Trotter of No. 473A Dudley street. John Nesbit occupies the first floor and Amos Hill the second. The damage was about $500.

Weak Over-worked Women

Who are broken down and made invalids by the drudgery of never ending household cares and duties, or by over-frequent bearing and nursing of children, and many other cares, burdens and strains which the weaker sex have to bear, are deserving of profound sympathy. But while sympathy is commendable what these unfortunate women must need is a good, honest, square-deal Restorative Tonic and Strength-giving Nervine and Regulator —one compounded and carefully adapted to act in harmony with woman's peculiar, delicate, ever sensitive organization.

Who so well fitted to select, carefully proportion the ingredients and compound a remedy for the cure of these distressing and often pain-wracking weaknesses and derangements, as the carefully and thoroughly educated and regularly graduated physician who has had a long and successful experience in treating just this class of cases.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

THIS MEDICINE IS

THE ONE REMEDY Now, and for over 40 years, sold by druggists for Woman's Peculiar Weaknesses, and Distressing Ailments, gotten up by one having all of the above qualifications.

THE ONE REMEDY which absolutely contains neither alcohol (which to most Women is rank poison) nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.

THE ONE REMEDY which is so perfect in its composition and so good in its curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient, as they do, on its outside wrapper, verifying the same under solemn oath.

In all the above most important particulars, the "Favorite Prescription" stands absolutely alone—in a class all by itself—as woman's most reliable and trust-worthy remedy in time of sickness and distress. It is a pure glyceric extract made from American curative roots, found by long time experience most valuable in curing woman's weaknesses and derangements. The leaders in all schools of medical practice have endorsed each of its ingredients as of the best known remedies for the complicated affections for which it is recommended. These professional endorsements should count for far more than any number of lay testimonials. A booklet full of them sent free on receipt of name and address.

FRESNO CLAIMANT TO TRY TO CONVINCE W. C. RUSSELL

Ferdinand B. Almy, cousin of William C. Russell and Daniel Blake Russell, who has directed the long, hard fight to have the North Dakota claimant get half of the $500,000 estate left by the late Senator Daniel Russell of Melrose, declared an imposter, to-day declared that William C. Russell is anxious to meet the new claimant from Fresno. Mr. Almy said that the new claimant's account of his early life in Melrose are remarkably correct. Mr. Almy said to-day:

"We are very anxious to have a conference with this new claimant from California. At this conference William C. Russell will talk with this man and see if he is his long-lost brother.

Interested in Story.

"Of course, we know nothing of this man except what we have read in the newspapers. Little facts which Daniel Blake Russell alone would know appear in this new man's story. This is especially significant, I think. We await with pleasure his meeting with William C. Russell."

It became known to-day that Daniel Blake Russell, No. 1, from North Dakota, went down to the Quincy House last night from the Commonwealth Hotel, where he is staying, in an effort to meet the new claimant, Henry Johnson. Mr. Johnson was not in the hotel, however, and Daniel Blake Russell went back to the hotel, declaring that he would seek an interview later.

Daniel Blake Russell and his lawyer, Senator Simpson, declare the new claimant is a "plant" by the William C. Russell interests, that he is a "Pinkerton" detective hired for the job, that he will be recognized by William C. Russell and later paid for his work.

The new claimant spent to-day at the office of his lawyer, William Odlin, at No. 16 State street, where he conferred with Mr. Odlin and State Senator George Cartwright of California, the lawyer whom he brought with him from the West. Senator Cartwright said to-day:

"Our stay here in Boston depends upon the outcome of our interview with William C. Russell, on whether or not he recognizes in my client, what he is, the real Daniel Blake Russell.

"We are going slowly in this matter. Just what my client's rights are remains to be found out. We shall go to Melrose probably to-morrow with the claimant, Mr. Johnson."

Following a long interview with the Fresno claimant during which he asked Johnson a number of previously prepared questions intended to severely test his memory of Melrose people and events of his boyhood, Edward W. Frentz, mentioned by the Fresno man as one of his school boy playmates, declares he is convinced that Johnson is the real Daniel Blake Russell.

Frentz further says that the new claimant's physical characteristics exactly correspond to those of young Daniel Blake Russell.

Sure Story is Right.

Senator Cartwright emphatically denied that his appearance here with the new claimant is part of a "plant," as alleged by the attorney for the first claimant.

"The entire Russell fortune," said Senator Cartwright, "could not induce me to risk being made a dupe in this case. When I took charge of the case I was not wholly convinced as to the man's claims. He is of the type that divulges information piecemeal and in an incomplete way. But, after several interviews, I decided that he was the true Daniel Blake Russell. To assist me in getting at the truth of the matter's statements I had two New England men to aid me in unwinding the claimant.

Of the two Edward Preble, whose family is known in Portland, and the other is William McLaughlin, formerly of Boston. Both men have for some years been residents of Fresno, and on hearing of the new claimant they appeared and offered their services. Both are acquainted with the lay of the land and from the way in which my client answered them I became satisfied that his claim was right."

Story Wrong, Says Simpson.

Senator Simpson, counsel for the first claimant, points out what he says are slips in the new claimant's stories. He says:

"The statement that a deposit placed years ago by Daniel Russell for Daniel Blake Russell is still at the Home Savings Bank has been related as a bit of information that links the Fresno man with the Russell family.

"Any person could have obtained that knowledge, for it is on record at the Probate Court in connection with the report entered on the Russell estate, shortly after the death of Daniel Russell, Sr.

"The entrance of this man into the case is nothing more than a move to divert attention from the real issue. The James Roscoe claim has, in my opinion, fallen flat."

STRIPES ABANDONED FOR "GENTLEMEN"

PITTSBURG, March 31.—There are so many "gentlemen convicts" among the seven hundred prisoners in the Western penitentiary that Warden John Frandies announced to-day that the stripes will be abandoned at that institution. The convicts' prison garb only serves to embitter men, said the warden, and makes it more difficult to reform them.

PRETTY GIRL'S DEATH A PUZZLE

Mystery surrounds the identity of a young girl who committed suicide at Portland, Me. The victim was well dressed and very pretty. She is not known in Portland, having been in the city but a few days.

The police have failed to identify the body and the woman from whom the girl had taken a room has written the following letter to the city in the hope of finding some relative or friend of the unfortunate girl:

"Sir—A young girl, about seventeen years old, came here and sought a room for a week, saying she was going to work here. She did not appear down stairs to-day, and, going to her room, we found her fully dressed lying on the bed, dead from gas fumes. She is very pretty, and about five feet, five inches, dark brown hair, and wore a ring with the letters 'L. M. A.' She was dressed in a very neat blue suit and wore tan shoes. Hoping some of heartbroken mother will read this and will let me know what to do with the dear child's body, I remain,

Treatment of The Grip

¶ The best authorities give no satisfactory treatment for the acute stage of the grip but it is of short duration, usually running its course in two or three days, at most, a week or ten days. Careful diet, rest and warmth and a supporting or tonic treatment, with laxatives, if required, are the best aids to nature during the acute stage.

¶ The real danger from the grip is during convalescence, when the characteristic symptoms, the fever, catarrh and headache pass away. The grip leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves---a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration and even consumption. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of strengthening the blood and nerves.

¶ Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blood builder and nerve tonic and are particularly suited to correct the evils left by an attack of the grip. Book of cures sent on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

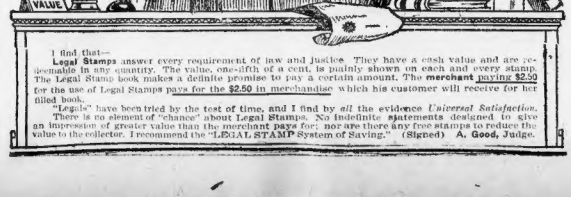
LEGAL STAMPS

A CO-OPERATIVE SYSTEM OF CASH DISCOUNT—A SYSTEM OF SAVING



I find that—

Legal Stamps answer every requirement of law and justice. They have a cash value and are redeemable in any quantity. The value, one-fifth of a cent, is plainly shown on each and every stamp. The Legal Stamp book makes a definite promise to pay a certain amount. The merchant paying $2.50 for the use of Legal Stamps pays for the $2.50 in merchandise which his customer will receive for her filled book.

"Legals" have been tried by the test of time, and I find by all the evidence Universal Satisfaction.

There is no element of "chance" about Legal Stamps. No indefinite statements designed to give an impression of greater value than the merchant pays for; nor are there any free stamps to reduce the value to the collector. I recommend the "LEGAL STAMP System of Saving." (Signed) A. Good, Judge.

AD MEN HEAR DON C. SEITZ

The value and importance of advertising was well shown by Don C. Seitz of New York at the dinner of the Pilgrim Publicity Association at the Hotel Somerset, Tuesday night. "The strength of a successful advertising show should come up to the ad vertising," said Mr. Seitz. "Some seem to think that we advertising solicitors take a great delight in saying a great deal and doing as little as possible.

"Perhaps you will be surprised to know of the small number of persons who advertise. Less than thirty represent large display in advertising, and those thirty men in New York have whom to see that they alone have the things that you want to buy.

"The average New York department store spends about 4 per cent in advertising, that the public may be learning what things they ought to buy.

SUPREME COURT TO TRY A QUEER CASE

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Oddly enough, the very first case the seven Justices left at active work in the Supreme Court will take up after the Easter recess will be one resulting from a vacancy on the bench when the court rendered a decision in a similar case about four years ago. The case is that of Collector of Internal Revenue Bird of Chicago against the executors of the estate of David C. Woodman, and involves the interpretation of the Spanish war stamp tax legislation.

FATHER GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE HIS SON

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., March 31.—By a transfusion of blood from father to son it is believed that the life of ten-year-old John R. Mosher of this city has been saved. The child had been so weakened by loss of blood through nosebleeding that a few days ago, with his recovery despaired of, the physicians decided to resort to the transfusion operation. The boy is reported as recovering.

CARNEGIES WILL VISIT PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, March 31.—Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Carnegie and their daughter will arrive here to-morrow from the West, for a four days' visit to the Iron City. It is the first real visit which the Laird of Skibo has paid to Pittsburg since three years ago, when he was here to open the great Carnegie institute. The family will be entertained at the Hotel Schenley, near the Institute.

LAVA STREAMS EMPTY TOWNS

CATANIA, Sicily, March 31.—The authorities to-day again ordered the evacuation of the outer districts of Belpasso and Nicolosi, on which lava streams are advancing rapidly. Many of the residents refused to leave, despite the fact that destruction threatened them. The eruption of Mt. Etna, although fluctuating in severity, continued to-day with thirty craters active. Frank A. Perrett of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has proved himself the most daring of the scientists studying the eruption, to-day predicted that it would probably last for six months, and be the most serious in the history of the volcano. There was another heavy rain of ashes from the volcano during the night.

SOUTH POLE HERO ARRIVES

Sir Ernest Shackleton and Lady Shackleton arrived in Boston from New York to-day and are staying at the Touraine. They spent the day touring the city in automobiles, visiting the historical points, concluding by a trip over to Cambridge to see Harvard. The Harvard Travelers' Club entertained the explorer and his wife.

The Englishman who penetrated to within 126 miles of the South Pole will be given a dinner tonight at the Touraine by the Victorian Club and then members of the British Military and Naval Veterans' Association will escort him to Symphony Hall, where he will give his lecture and show his moving pictures taken in the land of ice and snow.

COTTON FAMINE NOW PREDICTED

LONDON, March 31.—English cotton interests, both manufacturers and speculators, are deeply interested in an article by R. Larmour Neill, published here today, to which he states that the world stands face to face with a cotton famine. The cotton supply during the last six year period, he declares, has been 42,000,000 bales below the world requirements. He states that present agricultural conditions in the United States offer no immediate prospect of relief, and urges that every effort be made to improve old sources of supply and discover new ones.

STEEL ADVANCE TO FIGHT UNION

NEW YORK, March 31.—Nine million dollars a year will be the cost to the United States Steel Corporation if it decides to put into effect the general wage increase its managers have considered. Labor leaders to-day declared that this move is part of a plan to combat the efforts of the American Federation of Labor to organize its workers in the one which the Federation has declared on the trust called by the workers "labor's worst enemy."

Following the Pennsylvania Railroad's 6 per cent. increase to 100,000 men, and a like step by the Reading road, affecting 30,000 more, the Steel Trust, it was asserted in Wall street to-day, possibly will put the raise at 6 per cent.—certainly not more.

BIG BLUEFISH CATCH

NEW YORK, March 31.—Schooner Edith M. Price, Captain Fred Ness, reached Fulton Market with 30,000 two-pound bluefish, the first smack load of blues to arrive this Spring. They were caught off Cape Hatteras. The entire lot sold quickly, on November 4 of last year.

STOMACH ILLS MAY SEEM TRIFLES

At the start, but that is when you want to take the matter in hand. Neglect can only result the one way—sickness. The stomach is largely responsible for one's health and strength and as such it needs to be kept in a normal condition. If it becomes weak, the food remains undigested, ferments, and causes untold suffering. Thus you lose the strength-giving properties of your food and you become weak and run down. This is very noticeable at the beginning of Spring, when the system is overloaded with Winter impurities, the bowels clogged and the blood thick. No wonder you have the "Spring Fever." Commence taking Hostetter's Stomach Bitters this very day and cleanse the entire system. Then your Stomach Ills will soon vanish. It is for Sick Headache, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Spring Fever, General Debility and Malaria.

RAINY WEATHER KEEPS RED SOX FROM PRACTICE

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

DOVES LEAVE OLD TRAINING CAMP AT AUGUSTA, GA.

DOVES IN CONDITION TO BATTLE STRONG TEAMS

By W. H. ROSS.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31.—Lake is now less to see what kind of a showing his men will make against pitchers who will twirl for all they are able and are of big league class.

It will be a different proposition for the Doves than facing their own pitchers when the latter were taking it easy in the box. There will not be so many to fence with and not so many runners on the bases. Ball players will not often cut loose in practice games and are very leary of overtaxing themselves when playing semi-big league ercuses. They are always afraid of sustaining a hurt which will be thing up for a day, and that kind of an accident is as liable to happen in playing against "dubbers" as in a game with pennant winners.

By the time Lake has put his men into Ohio he will have some line on their real playing strength as a team.

The New Yorkers will make the Doves fly some, and in Atlanta, Chattanooga, and Louisville are clubs which are able to battle with any of the major teams. The games ahead ought to harden the Boston Nationals for the race which is soon to start.

The outlook is fine, but the selection by baseball experts will abound on the way in which Wood, Lowe and Bedient swat the ball. Taking the practice games right through Myers has had a shade the best of it with the stick, although Rose has batted harder than the men in left and right pastures in the last two or three bouts in Augusta. Becker has not got his eye on the ball yet.

Outfield Lacks Hitting.

It can't be stated that the outfield trio has shown much form at the bat so far. But it is generally true that as has been said, that the men who knock fences in spring training usually slump at the bat when the season opens. Lowe seems to be a little slow in returning the ball and he is far from showing to date as much speed between the bases as Moran and Becker.

It will surprise fans, no doubt, to be told that Cecil Ferguson is one of the fastest sprinters now playing ball. A stop watch was once held on him, Becker and Johnny Bates and Ferguson was found on repeated trials to get to first the quickest of the three. When playing the outfield Fred Beck can probably cover more ground than any of the Doves, but he never displays any such speed when running the bases. He does not get to start after a fly ball far quicker than he can get going from a sack. In yesterday's game he slammed the ball to right for two bags and then tried to stretch the hit to third.

Either Moran or Becker might have gotten away with it, for Beck found Cooney waiting with the ball and went out without a struggle.

The Tyrus Cobb would have banned the play. Cobb goes wide open and plunges to earth with a slam that might have got him safely by in a cloud of dust. The infield is not playing up to its usual form. There is no brilliant work around first such as every team could is clear by to turn up a big chrome play at any time. With a little more speed work Fred would soon make more like a star.

Shean is all there at second base, and Sweeney is a presentable person around the short field.

Getz Playing Fast.

The boy who has done surprisingly well is Getz. He looks better in every game he plays. He has his mind on his business every minute and strikes me as a player who will develop into a star. Manager Lake gives him with the Teutonic persistence of his forbears and he is going to. In fielding, batting and base running Gus is far ahead of his last season's stride.

If Matteson should quit pitching he would make a mighty good outfielder. The stellar play of yesterday was a cinch to be made in left field, when he had to go back for the ball, and his throw to the plate, which cut off a run, was as pretty a piece of work as has been seen in many a day in any field.

The Doves will train in Augusta next Spring, President Lake has hired the grounds here for another season.

CHAPTER XV.

For days, leading up to his fight with Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Corbett tried his hardest to knock out his new sparring partner, Jim Jeffries. Corbett, at the same time, realized that in Jeff he was facing an opponent who could take all he had to give and always willing to return for more. Two days before the fight with Fitzsimmons Corbett went to his advisers, Billy Delaney, and pleaded that he be allowed to go 45 rounds with Jeffries instead of four.

"This youngster thinks he is some fighter, Billy," said Jim. "And, while I have been unable to finish him in four rounds, I want to take him on for a couple of more rounds. Mebbe I can show young Jim and I sure take some of the conceit out of him."

Delany, however, insisted that four rounds was enough. Wise William saw a great chance for Jeff despite his cleverness. Billy announced that four rounds was enough.

The day of the big fight with Fitzsimmons finally arrived. Delaney carefully packed the men who were to be in the corner. He selected Gallagher, Billy White, Billy Woods and Jim Donaldson. Of course, Billy himself was chief adviser. Jeffries was given the honor of the first battle.

Despite the fact that Jeff had the lowly job he was satisfied in his own heart that he was watching the two great gladiators he was learning a lot about the game.

As he watched them struggle on and batter each other up during that famous fourteen-round battle he appreciated the fact that he would some day become the world's heavyweight champion. He saw Corbett hit Fitz with that lightning left time and again and laughed to himself what a really light blow it was. He saw Fitz work that marvelous shift, and although he knew that it carried tons of speed, he was sure that he could take it, that the freckled fighter had, and still came back for more. And from the very beginning of the Fitz-Corbett fight, Jeff was sure that Fitz had Corbett's number.

After the fight was over Delaney and Jim had finished work with Corbett he turned to a friend and said: "No more of this waterpoil for me. I have been toying with Corbett for some time, and I know I could have put him away in a third battle."

CHAPTER XVI.

While Fitz and Corbett were resting in their corners between the ninth and tenth rounds, Jim Jeffries, once and for ever, stood himself the freckled man absolutely above board.

A clique of San Francisco betting men, figuring that Fitz, with his terrible wallop, could never get Corbett sometime, had taken up all the short end money. These same men saw Corbett beat Fitzsimmons unmercifully during the early rounds of that great fight, and they figured then that they had made a grave mistake in that Corbett was sure to wear Fitz down with his stinging jab and stop the fight.

So, between the ninth and tenth rounds, they endeavored to "get" to Jeff. One of the slickest members of this wagering coterie approached Jeff during this angle of rest and tried to call him one side, with the usual number of the good boy dope some light into Corbett's water bottle, which might deprive him of his "kick."

Jeff immediately realized that some one had "got" to Corbett and he pushed aside and watched his bottles closer than ever. Seeing that there was no chance to do some dirty work like this way, the man in the clique went to Jeff and offered him $500 to let him slip some knockout drops into Corbett's water bottle. Jeff promptly handed his briber a fine young punch in the jaw, and he was carried out of the arena to a doctor's office. It was two hours before the attempted bribe came to.

MATTY BALDWIN POSTS $1,000 TO MEET WOLGAST

Matty Baldwin, fresh from his triumphs in the ring at Kansas City and New Orleans, has arrived home and will receive the glad hand from his Bunker Hill pals today.

Manager Alex McLean, who took Matty on his first big tour, made a stop over in New York and posted a forfeit of $1,000 with the New York Journal to meet any lightweight in the world, Ad Wolgast preferred, in a bout of twenty rounds or more, and he will let the forfeit go as a side bet.

Baldwin has been besieged by offers from all over the country since going to the front of his class and the little fellow needs only to stay in form to become a champion. He is wanted in New York for an April date to meet the winner of the Attell-Mcrau fight, which takes place to-morrow night. He has an offer from Coffroth, the Frisco promoter, for a match in May, and will probably accept.

Baldwin is the best lightweight in this section of the country, in the opinion of the ring experts, for a championship battle at the present time, and only needs to take care of himself to win the title.

BE YOUR OWN ARTIST—Amusing and instructive feature in the Sunday American.

"IRON MAN" SIEGER BEATS PERRON

PROVIDENCE, March 31.—Charles Sieger of New York beat Frank Perron of Pawtucket in a hot twelve-round go.

The battle went very evenly for awhile, but after the fifth round Sieger had the best of it, and had the better of it.

Perron claimed a foul in the sixth, when he went to the boards, but the referee decided against him.

Kid Willetts won the lightweight championship of Fall River over Young Wood in six rounds.

Young Bieler of Pawtucket and Young McGovern of Providence fought six rounds to a draw, as did Pinkey Dearborn and Young Lee Page.

RED SOX GOING TO LOS ANGELES NEXT SPRING

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 31.—When it rains here, you notice it. It has a habit of playing at continuous performance.

Thus when the Red Sox took a lookout this morning they could not tell whether or not they would be able to play the last game with Cincinnati.

It was the turn of the Griffiths men to have the use of the ball yard this morning, so they did not care whether it rained pitchforks or ropes.

Joe Wood, Common Bill Lowe was scheduled to step out on the slab, and he was ready for the word.

The Speed Boys are in fine shape, the rest doing them a lot of good. A few hours ago they were wet to the skin, but were not today they feel like fighting cocks and that's the way they could whip the disciples of Muhammed.

Manager Donovan has received another letter from President John L. Taylor, who has been down in Los Angeles looking over his future training camp.

He says: "I plan to bring the Red Sox right over to Los Angeles from Hot Springs. I think it advisable to have the pitchers report first, as they did this year at Hot Springs and have them train at least a week ahead of the regulars. I do not advise games as soon as the men get off the train.

"It is no wonder that the White Sox went away up out here. I did wonder if they can play at all. I was surprised to see that Manager Duffy was going to take part in a double header the next day after reaching the city."

Mr. Taylor added that he had slipped the Sacramento Club another player in Mike Mitchell, who played with York Club of the Tri-State League and hit for .304.

Manager Duffy has also received very favorable reports of Briggs, the Haverhill outfielder, who was also turned over to Sacramento by the Red Sox management.

Mr. Taylor thought another year in the minor league would just about round him into form, and he will be kept in line with the Red Sox if he makes good at Sacramento. If the Red Sox can turn over many more players to Sacramento, that club will soon have enough men to start a league of its own.

Jack Johnson 32 Years Old To-day

Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight, who is soon to fight Jim Jeffries for the championship, is 32 years old to-day, having been born in Galveston, Tex., March 31, 1878. His birthday anniversaries have not been all of the prostituted variety as the following record shows:

Twentieth birthday—Working at odd jobs and dreaming of becoming a fighter.

Twenty-third birthday—Had realized his ambition by standing up before Joe Choynski for two rounds, losing in the third.

Twenty-fourth birthday—In San Francisco, where his ability as a fighter was beginning to attract attention.

Twenty-fifth birthday—On his way from the West to Boston to meet Sandy Ferguson, whom he defeated in a 10-round fight.

Twenty-sixth birthday—On his way West to meet Sam McVey, whom he knocked out in the 20th round in San Francisco.

Twenty-seventh birthday—In San Francisco, recovering from the effects of his unsuccessful battle three days previously with Marvin Hart.

Twenty-eighth birthday—In Sydney, cancelling the proceeds of several victories recently won in short bouts in Eastern cities.

Twenty-ninth birthday—In Australia, having a rather hard time earning enough to furnish meal tickets for himself and manager.

Thirtieth birthday—In England, fighting Tommy Burns, whom he was to meet and defeat in Australia later in the year.

Thirty-first birthday—In New York, drawing $1,000 a week, appearing in vaudeville at the Victoria Theatre.

Thirty-second birthday—Congratulating himself on keeping out of jail and incidentally trying to make up his mind to begin training for the Jeffries fight.

CHANCE GLAD THAT KLING IS BACK

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 31.—Manager Frank Chance of the Chicago Cubs said to-day that with John Kling back in the line-up no team in the country will have a chance against his club. He added that while he is greatly pleased at Kling's return to the game, the catcher will have to pay the $700 fine imposed by the National Commission out of his own pocket. The club will not pay a penny toward the fine, Chance said.

WHITE SOX GET GROUNDS.

MINERAL WELLS, Texas, March 31.—Ted Sullivan, representing the Chicago White Sox, has secured a five-year option on training grounds at Mineral Wells. The Commercial Club here closed a contract pledging the city to build a ball park, in which a mineral well for her water will be dug. Sixth house will be erected and the diamond is to be kept in condition by the city.

BREAKS SWIMMING MARK.

CHICAGO, March 31.—Miss Ida Mc-Neil last night broke the world's record for 50-yard breast stroke in a handicap swim at the Central Y. M. C. A. Her time was 1:16, which is one second better than H. J. Handy's mark.

RICKARD SHOULD HAVE UNDERSTUDY ALL READY

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—When a day or two ago the false report that Jim Jeffries had broken his arm in an automobile accident was sent broadcast by the whalers here, one man who read it smiled.

He knew it was coming, but I did not expect it quite so soon.

In this case numbers of sports have entertained doubts from the beginning, and various forecasts have been made as to the means one or another of the fighters would employ to wriggle out of the engagement.

It is said that Tex Rickard would like to invoke insurance as a safeguard against loss. He will insure the lives of the fighters and also the life of the referee. Furthermore Tex would like to have a spare referee in case the original ringmaster sac ranged to the beat sparks blown off by Jeffries and Johnson when in action.

Tex is also talking of insuring against rain.

From the look of things Rickard might abandon some of his insurance schemes and devote what money he has to invest in that line to securing an understudy for Jeffries is deterred through accident from a meeting with Johnson, on the day of the fight.

This is in no sense a reflection upon Jeffries' courage. Jeffries is a game fighter, more likely to be the assailant in the ring than the attacked. Yet he is a careful fighter, and there is no reason for supposing that he will not continue through his training in good shape, whereas Johnson is liable to be assailed up while speeding or be arrested for debt or as a result of a dozen other things.

In a nutshell, if Johnson is prevented from fighting there will be no fight. Some of the other heavyweights have volunteered to take Johnson's place against Jeffries. On the other hand, there are three at least who would like to accept retaining fees as possible substitutes for Jeffries.

One of these is Tommy Burns, who needs no introduction to the sporting world. Another is Sam Langford, who, they say, is "ironbelly" enough to allow the thought of losing win against Johnson as a matter of fact.

The third, and it is to laugh when his name is mentioned, is Sandy Ferguson, the Chelsea giant. Sandy has sent on a circular letter to all sporting editors accompanied by a copy of a doctor's certificate setting forth that the giant is in excellent health and condition and presumably ready to fight anything that walks.

HARVARD SQUAD HAS NEW TRAINING FEAT

The "Home," invented by Wayland Minot, the big fullback of the Harvard eleven, was the hit of the afternoon on the Harvard practice field yesterday. The "Home" is an overgrown slingshot with a yard of rope on each side of the leather back. The baseball is placed within the leather sling, the sling given a full arm whirl and the ball sent on its journey to the outfield as one could hit it.

The speed of the baseballs was terrific and it was with difficulty that the men could be induced to go after the balls. In fact the ball was whizzed almost straight up in the air to a height of 125 yards. As the spherical descended it took on some fanciful curves which only the keenest eyed could fathom. Big two men succeeded in catching the straight up ball, Coach Hall and outfielder Harvey.

RUSHING WORK ON BALL PARK

Work is being rushed on L. N. Foss's athletic park for the evening athletic outdoor meets to be conducted in the Fall.

Football game on Saturday next, when last year's champions will meet under Penal Dept. Thomas Barker, with another crack team, will challenge the new big parties.

The football squad for the grand stand and bleachers will be finished in time for the opening diamond sortie with "Billy" Riley Haverhill club, on Wednesday, April 14.

President Steve Flanagan of the Brockton club, after agreeing on a date for April 19, at Brockton, has asked to cancel the game. Boston will not consent, and the New England League has agreed on good reason why he wants to back out of his contract. Boston will insist.

Manager O'Connor yesterday signed Walter Flinney, an outfielder, from the San Francisco club. Flinney is touted as a find. He is a Hooper, and has just arrived in Boston after a season in the Golden Gate Winter League.

"Jimmy" Murray of the Newports, who looks like a Hughey Duffy, when seen in the New England League, has agreed on terms with the Bostons.

Mike Mahoney of Wakefield—a giant box man, who turned up the Maine League this season, and has been sent on to Spaulding.

President Dana T. Spaulding, on behalf of the reorganized U. S. League, with Vice-President Ward and Secretary Heydler, Treasurer Frank Sheffield of the Providence club, and Manager Jack Dunn of the Baltimore club met to arrange for the season's schedule. Baltimore and Providence players by the hundred are said to be ready to be signed up or tried out by the U. S. League.

CAMPBELL THE WINNER.

The eighth game in the three cushion caroms match at the Imperial last night resulted in a win for Campbell over Lawrie, fifty to forty. Mason and Jones play to-night.

who advertises the features of his garments continually and as strongly as Newman does? That tailor is not in Boston yet! There are many reasons for this lack of detail in the advertising of clothing tailors. The chief of which is that these days a business must stand back of its ads. And so they don't claim to produce those Newman-made features in a suit or overcoat at $20. It will cost you at least $30 elsewhere to obtain that hand work which goes into Newman garments.

GOOD BOUTS AT WARE TO-NIGHT

There will be something doing at the Ware Athletic Club in Ware, Mass., this evening. Three boxing bouts in addition to the other features have been arranged. The principal boxing match will be between Savage Phillips and J. Vaz Hazen. The boys are old rivals and the winner is to be given a match at the next show.

The club has a membership of several hundred fans who reside in Palmer, Springfield, Chicopee, Northampton and other nearby towns. Arrangements have been made with the railroad companies to run cars to all these points for the members as soon as the final bout is settled.

HAMILTON TO SKATE AGAINST RUNNER

Clarence Hamilton the well known Boston roller skating champion is making a big hit in Pittsburg. He is to meet the winner of the Dolando-Leighton race, scheduled tonight in a special match on Saturday evening.

Hamilton is to skate ten miles while the runner runs six. Recently Hamilton in a 2-mile race against a bicycle set a new world's mark, doing the distance in 7m. 30s. and he won the event by twenty-five yards.

TY COBB HAS GOT MALARI

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31.—Ty Cobb threatened with malaria and may not be able to join the Detroit team for a few weeks. Cobb has been ailing for the past week, and it was thought that his strenuous efforts in local practice had worn him down, but his physician stated that he has all the symptoms of malaria.

The Detroit star appeared here well when he reported at his automobile store, and, though his friends failed to persuade him to go home, Cobb went on a 9-mile trip in an auto to clear up some business.

SMITH GETS A SURPRISE

NEW YORK, March 31.—Sammy Smith received the surprise of his life at the Sharkey A. C. when Paddy Sullivan handed him a severe lacing in their ten-round bout. Smith's cleverness came to him to aid in the final rounds and he was forced the tables on his rugged adversary, but Sullivan's early lead was too great for him to overcome.

BOUT HONORS EVEN.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—In a mixup at the Wayne A. C. Young Stribling and Johnny Krouse fought six hot rounds with honors even at the finish. The boys were evenly matched and both strong. They continually rushed at each other and fought hard at close quarters, landing many hard punches.

MORROW DOES POUNDING

DETROIT, Mich., March 31.—Howard Morrow of Benton Harbor, a protege of Tommy Ryan, pounded Jack Ryan of Chicago all over the ring for eight rounds at Windsor, but could not get a knockout. In the fourth Ryan's nose was broken.

STRAIGHT DOPE
FOR SPORT FANS

THE AMERICAN A. C., WHICH HAS met up with a lot more hard luck than it deserves, has an interesting session billed for to-night. Armour Cote and Tommy Foley in the main bout should be an attraction enough to bring out a large crowd, even without the club has recently made. Here's hoping for easier sledding for the American.

WELL, THE 2 BOYES LEAVE THEIR training camp to-day and start on a homecoming tour, which brings them nearer home each day. To-morrow, being the first of April, a careful calculation of the calendar will convince even Rush that it is only about two weeks until April 14, when the season opens. It looks to me as if Fred Lake's team is going to show a lot better than the one which converted last season at the Walpole grounds.

JIMMY WALSH IS AT TOM MURRAY'S Sunnyside Clubhouse getting ready for his bout next Monday night with Young Britt at Schenectady, N. Y., and despite published reports of his hard fight with Billy Allen at Woonsocket the other night, does not bear a mark on his face and is scarcely Jimmy always keeps in condition, but in spite of this he likes out to Murray's local jerson after each bout and gets well rested up. From Schenectady Jimmy goes to Milwaukee, where he has another match the latter part of the week. He is still hoping for a chance to film the suits of Pal Moore, but the manager of the Philadelphia phenom appear too wise to let their boy take a chance.

SANDY FERGUSON IS ANOTHER boxer who has selected Sunnyside as the best place almost in Boston to get back into condition, and this time the big Chelsea man appears sincere in his determination to give his former enemy, Old Kid Barleycorn, the knock-out wallop. Sandy has been at Sunnyside two weeks and already shows the effects of the hard work he has been doing. Here's the way Sandy dopes it:

> I have been very foolish and have wasted a lot of time when I should have been getting to the top of the heap, which nearly every one admits I can do, if I get in condition and do the training act. There is a temptation to figure that I am the best heavyweight in the game with the exception of Jeffries, and I'm thinking the same way. It will take me some time to get at my best, but I am working hard to that end and will get there. I'm a big freak to keep on playing the run game when I can make an independent fortune and a good name for myself in a few years by taking the right kind of care of myself. It took me a long time to learn this, but it's the straight and narrow path for mine for the next year.
> And the best of it all is that Sandy is sincere. I believe he will go through with it, and if he does he will make the best of them go a long ways. I'm going to keep tab on him.

IF THESE RUSSELL CLAIMANTS ARE real sports let them toss a coin to decide which one is bunk and which is not. It's a little out of my jurisdiction but if I were the late arrival from the West, I'd be willing to take a chance. It looks to me as if this was the only way he would get a look-in, even though I am tipped that the Melrose recluse may take a notion in his head to recognize the new man as his brother.

CHARLES HAYES, LAWRENCE MASS.:

Bat Nelson's defeat by Wolgast did not end his theatrical tour. Judging by reports he is no big a drawing card as before the recent fight.

JOSEPH GONSALVES, CAMBRIDGE:

Loughran is still in the running game although he has not done much recently. He is now in his twenty-third year.

JAMES SHEEHY, ROXBURY—THERE are six teams in the league, viz.: Taunton, Stoughton, Randolph, Rockland, East Weymouth and Quincy.

G. T. F., BOSTON—OUR FINANCIAL sharp informs me that most Boston savings banks pay 3½ per cent. interest. Some, the sassy, pay 3 per cent. and some 4 per cent.

HERE'S ANOTHER NAVY CHAMP who wants a crack at the landlub here. I don't know how good he is, but he writes as if he meant business.

> Straight Dope, Boston American:

> No. 232 Broadway, Cambridge.

> Straight Dope, Boston American:

> Kindly let me know who defines who the championship from. Was Fitzsimmons ever heavyweight champion? Do you think Jeffries ever faked a fight? Explained in this village that Jeffries got some kind of a decision over Sharkey. He says he has a telegram to prove it. Your truly,
> SAGAMORE CHIEF.
> Sagamore, Mass.

Your friend has a head like a rock, and he handles the truth so carelessly that he'll slip on his chin strap some day when he's jogging it about. Jeffries won the title from Fitz, and he never faked a fight. Ask the sagamore to show you the telegram, and then watch him back pedal.

> Straight Dope, Boston American:

They fought for two hours and fifteen minutes in the roughest kinds of wrestling—almost prize fighting—then the police stopped the bout and the referee called it a draw.

FINE SCRAPS AT AMERICAN A. C.

The boxing fans will flock to the American A. C. show to-night at the Kenney square headquarters of the club, where a good looking card of sport has been arranged by the directors.

The headliner is a scrap between Arthur Cote, the champion lightweight of Maine, and Tom Foley of South Boston. Both boys are known for fast action and hard hitting tactics, and if the local mitt pushed can secure the verdict it will be a big boost to his reputation.

Tommy Flanagan, a member of that fighting family from Cambridge, will meet Scotty Coyne, the Manchester slugger, in one of the mediums. Dutch Curl, the Charlestown dot wielder will exchange with Benny Breen, who made a hit fighting Harry Edels the other night, and Charley Walcott, the tough colored boy, is to face John Henderson.

JACK JOHNSON IS ARRESTED AGAIN

CHICAGO, March 31.—Jack Johnson was arrested for speeding his automobile while driving north in Michigan boulevard. He was taken to the Harrison Street Police Station, where bonds were signed for his release.

Big Bill, as ex-prizefighter, also was arrested on a charge of interfering with a policeman. In the machine besides Johnson and Hart were Mrs. Johnson, a woman friend and a chauffeur.

According to Policeman Flynn, Johnson was going at the rate of twenty miles an hour. The colored man became indignant, it is said, when told he was speeding, and refused to allow the policeman to ride with him in his automobile to the police station. Flynn then summoned the patrol wagon, to which Hart and Johnson were taken. They were placed in cells until a bondsman was found.

FORTY MEN NOW IN TECH CREW

Forty men survived the first cut in the early candidates for the Tech crew following the work in the gym. The men in two eights will put their shells into the Charles River basin at the Union Boat Club early next week, with Coach O'Leary in charge. The candidates met Dr. Hugh Cabot, president of the Union Boat Club, and the coach yesterday afternoon and were overhauled and taught the serious side of rowing training. The men retained for the out positions are:

R. M. Gore, '12, captain; J. K. Batchelder, '13; I. Cargan, '12; H. H. Coburn, '12; A. Chamberlain, '11; E. Crocker, '13; C. Fiske, '12; A. J. Freedman, '12; H. S. Gould, '10; W. G. FIRST BIG AUTO TOUR IN EAST

By J. C. KERRISON.

The Motor Contest Association is to conduct a two days' reliability contest from New York city to Atlantic City and return May 10 and 11 next. This will be the first touring competition under the 1910 rules recently promulgated by the American Automobile Association.

The association will unquestionably secure one of the greatest entry lists on record as its membership comprises almost all of the dealers and makers in and around New York. Such a contest as this is a great stimulator of trade interests, and the results of the contest will be watched with a great deal of interest.

George Robertson, the famous race driver, has taken unto himself a life partner, he having married Miss Lillian M. Crawford of Brooklyn on Tuesday last. Immediately after the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Robertson started for Los Angeles, where George is to drive a high powered car in the coming contests. In Los Angeles Robertson will come into competition with the most famous drivers and machines on this continent, and some interesting times will surely be recorded.

The Hon. Fred M. Warner, Governor of Michigan, a State that is the banner one in the manufacturing of automobiles, has accepted an invitation to speak at the banquet of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers to be held at the Hotel Astor on April 7. The annual output of automobiles, parts and accessories from factories in Michigan so far surpasses that of any other State that the presence of Governor Warner will be particularly appropriate.

The banquet committee, of which H. B. Joy of Detroit is chairman, announces that the other speakers will include W. H. Edwards, head of New York's Street Cleaning Department; Colonel Charles Clifton of Buffalo, president of the A. L. A. M., and Arthur Brisbane of New York. Job E. Hedges will be toastmaster. As representatives from eighty-three motor car manufacturers will attend the dinner it is expected to be the most representative gathering of the motor car industry ever held in this country.

EVERY DAY

We advertise every day in the week and do business every day in the week. Many tailors advertise at spasmodic intervals, and their business is not steady. It is rush one day and dull the next. This is also true of the ready made stores—with their "annual fire sales," "closing out sales," "coming in sales," "beginning of the season sales," "end-of-the-season sales" and so on.

Our business is conducted just like our advertising—steady, regular schedule, no "special sales"—just suits (or overcoats) at $15 to $25 year in and year out. New goods coming along all the time—everything right up to the minute in style of design in the clothes and pattern in the goods. So why delay? Each coming day is just as good as another at our shop. The only day that isn't any good, down here, is yesterday. Call day or evening.

MIRANDY ON THE SUPERIORITY OF MEN — By DOROTHY DIX

"I CAN always tell, remarked Mirandy with conviction, "when a man is dat henpecked at home dat he says, 'Our britches' when he talks about his pants. He's de man dat, when he gits out whar his wife can't hear him, is always a-bamboozlin' women, an' layin' evvything dat goes wrong, from de weather up an' down, at deir door. Yessum, de man what crows de loudest abroad sings de smallest on his own roost pole.

"Now dere's Brer Jenkins, dat dasn't lift his soul his own when Sis Jenkins is around, but takes alive, you ought to hear him when he gits up in de public whar nobody can't dispute him! De way he wades into women is jest plumb scandalous, an' just might he sholy was on a high horse or he been resolvin' in de paper somethin' dat kinder hanked him up. Case, de men in de congregation is a-feared to add up his hands, no matter want dey thinks, for dey's newly married, an' is got to go home wid deir wives.

He'd Done Bust Loose Agen

"But dis piece in de paper say one of dem college perfessers in Chicago is done bust loose agen, an' dat he say dat women is lots mo' onciwilized an' heathen-ish dan men is, an' dat of he had a been raised by his pa, instead of his ma, he would a been lots mo' of a perfect lady dan what he is.

"When Brer Jenkins tell about dat he fetches a sigh and says: 'How true dat is, an' 'tho he say 'amen,' and when he ketches my eye he change bit to a lib der groan. Den Brer Jenkins go on to tell how de perfesser say dat de pa's ought to help up de children as much as to give 'em de benefit of de elevatin, masculine influence, an' at dat I sing out:

"'Bless Gord, let de good dog come!'

"'Yes, yes, yes dat's our view dat de women is gwine to chip in mighty lively wid. Yessum, but suttinly would be handy to have a husband an' father around de house dat would walk de colle, an' scrub de children's faces, an' give 'em bread an' molasses ev'y time dey cried for bit, an' buss 'em when dey was sick, an' put 'em to bed, an' all de time you could set back easy in yo' cheer a-knowin' dat dey was a-bubblin' de plev, genuin, refined ways of men, 'stead of bein' to be rough and rude, tak women."

"Yessum, but sho's would be de millenium dat de Good Book tells about, whar de children cease from troublin' an' de mothers are at rest, an' dey can't hurry hit up too much for me. Hit allways looked to me dat dere warn't enough partnership in de chillen, nowsay. I don't see why a ma should be ten times as much a ma as a pa is a pa. But dat's de way hit works. She be never risting our chillen, but two minutes a week. De balance of de time dey's mine. When little Teddy Roosevelt is dirty an' bad, an' has broke de neighbor's window, he says:

"'Woman, look what yo' chile has done did,' but when dat angel chile fetches home de prize from de Sunday school, Ike, he stands on de street corner, an' swells out his chest an' brags about his' son.

"Howsomever, dat ain't nelder here nor dere. What I wants to know is how dat college perfesser found out dat women is mo' onciwilized den men, an' dat fathers have a mo' refinin influence on chillen dan mothers has.

How the Men Aways Act

"'Case, I'se jest a po', ignorant old woman, an' I ain't gwine spute wid a learned perfesser in a college, but all de men what I ever knowed thought dat you raise a baby lak you did a setter pup, an' dat de best thing to do when one got to sayin' was to git so far away from hit an' so interested in a cyard game dat you couldn't hear hit cuss-nuthin'.

"Den hit seems lak to me dat I kinder look notice dat hit is men, an' not onciwilized women, dat takes delight in seein' things get hurt. I discommender ever see a man an' two dogs fix each odder up, an' of any of de mothers' clubs ever backed a prize fight, or any sister in good standin' in de church ever paid $25 for a seat to see men batter each odder to pieces I never heard of hit.

"Yit, last week, when de perfece raided de barn whar dey was havin' whut dey called a gluve contest, de nex' mawnin' me an' Sis Temps, an' sis Hannah, an' all de odder deaconin' wives had to hustle around an' pay our husbands out of de calaboose.

"An' as fer war—my land, but dey wouldn't be no mo' war of dere was only women in de world. Case dey'd git mad, an' pass each odder over de back fence, an' maybe dere might be a little hair pullin', but de first time any lady scratched no de blood come all de balance of de time would throw down deir weapons, an' run an' try to bring her to wid smellin' salts, an' den dey'd all set down together an' have a good cry, an' say dat dey reckon dey didn't mean all dey said, an' den dey'd kiss an' go home, an' borrow somethin for supper just to show dat dey was neighborly ones wo'.

"Maybe dat perfesser is right, an' dat men is mo' civilized dan women, but did you ever see a house dat men libs in without no woman around? De blackin' brush will be on de mantelpiece, an' de dirty dishes on de table, an' de tea kettle on de bed, an' de clothes will be strewed from one end to de odder, an' de dust will be a mile thick ever'thing. Yessum, dat's so. When I goes away an' leaves Ike to keep house de only clean thing I finds when I gits home is de towel.

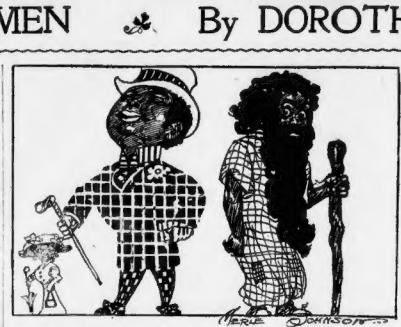
"Wonderful Diskivery"

"An' hit's de same way 'bout dressin' up. My land, but if de women was all dead, de men would be a gwine roun' in blankets befo' de year was out, an' wid beards so long dat dey would have bird's nests in 'em. Men don't dress fer each odder. Day primps up for women.

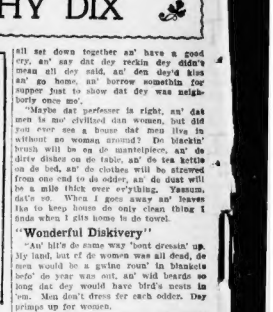
"Befo' a man is married he fixes hisself up to try to ketch some gal, an' after he's married he dresses up case his wife makes him an' to save a fambly argument. Yassum, sir, I had a dollar an' ev'y time I'se inside de room on a clean shirt when he didn't want to, I spect I could buy out Mr. Rockfeller an' float away on sum of kerosene.

"Yessum, hit sho'ly am wonderful whut dem perfessers diskivers, an' I wonders how der mom hit, an' how der happens to find out dat women is mo' onciwilized dan man. Ef he jest looks lak dat 'gard an' women is much of a muchness, case of dey warn't dey wouldn't match so well."

An obstreperous child can drive a married man away from home in record time.



Man dresses up for woman, and any old style would go if she were wiped off the earth.



Mabel Herbert Urner Says:

"Have Work to Do to Keep Happy"

I OPENED the door to the imperative knock. Miss Prentiss, the prim, stiff "maiden lady" of the front suite stood there.

"Good morning," frigidly. "Is Lizzie in your room?"

"Yes, she is here, Lizzie," I called.

And Lizzie, her dust cloth and broom in her hand, came out of the bathroom.

"Lizzie, I want to speak to you."

With an expression of uneasiness and discomfort, reluctantly Lizzie followed her by the hall. Even though the closed door I could not help but hear.

"You—I'll come right in—just as soon as I finish here—I've only the bathroom to do I mean."

I did not hear Miss Prentiss's protest, but Lizzie's voice was shrill and distinct.

"But the housekeeper said I was to come in here first and then come to you."

"I don't know nothing about what the other girl did—but that's what the housekeeper told me. This lady works—and I'm to finish her room early—while she's down to breakfast, if I can—"

"Well, you'll have to see the housekeeper then—that's all I know. I've got only one pair of hands—I can't do every body's room at the same time."

Lizzie came back, a look of sullen resentment on her face.

"You can leave the bathroom until later, if Miss Prentiss wants you now," I suggested, with no desire to please Miss Prentiss but to make things easier for Lizzie. She was a good maid and I had some idea of the trials of her work.

"No, miss, the housekeeper told me I was to do your room first! Miss Prentiss is always fussing about something. If it ain't one thing, it's another. She watches me come in here every morning, and if I don't get in to her at 9 sharp—she's at ways something to say."

Lizzie crowded some papers down into the waste basket as though that was the object of her resentment.

"And she's so fussy about her room! She keeps me there over an hour—every little thing has to be just so! She follows me around and rubs her finger over things and says: 'Are you sure you dusted this, Lizzie?' And you'—in a burst of confidence, "you never say nothing—you let me do my work and get through.

I laughed. "I'm probably not as particular as Miss Prentiss. You see, I'm too busy with my own work to give much thought to yours."

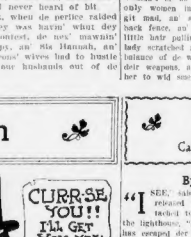
Lizzie looked thoughtful for a moment. "I guess that's it, miss. It's them that hasn't no work themselves—that's so hard to work for. They haven't nothing to do but sit around all day and find fault.

"There's Miss Allison upstairs—she works—she's an artist, you know. She's like you—she always says 'good morning, Lizzie,' very nice and pleasant, and then she goes on with her work and forgets I'm there, and I get through in half the time than if she followed me around and watched everything I did. Yes, I like to work for them that works themselves."

The Passing of the Villain

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

THE days of the drama by no means are done; new plays are produced by the score.
But where is that sinister son-of-a-gun, the scoundrelly villain of yore?
The villain who sneaked 'round the spot-light's dim rim,
With a large forty-four and a countenance grim,
To hunt down the hero and saturate him
In a flood of retributive gore?



No craven—that villain—he never repented, along toward the end of the act,
Professed reformation and meekly consented to study a temperance tract!
You knew from the moment you saw him come on, lung, long 'ere the hero had met him,
That he was no fellow to cringe or to fawn—son simply must kill him to get him.
And ah! when the hero implanted a kiss on the heroine's cheek by the river,
The villain's resounding and hideous hiss made even the gallery shiver.

You knew when the ch-ild was packed into the cavern in the fatuous hope to conceal it,
That the villain 'ere long, coming home from the tavern, would light on the urchin and steal it.
You knew when the heroine, touchingly thin, with such a pathetic young cough,
Went into the lanyard, the wretch would sneak in, and gag her and carry her off.
And only the playwright's extravagant aid prevented this blood-thirsting Nero,
That terrible night of the gambling-house raid, from actually getting the hero!

But where is the villain? The plays of today present milk-and-water inquity:
The worst of the bolting can merely display the mildest of moral obliquity.
And the rascal that put all the virtues to rout,
Who WAS bad, and STAYED bad, and left you no doubt
That he was a scoundrel, and that out and out,
Has faded away in antiquity.

Captain Pinochle and "Der Sleepless Siokness"

By HANK

"I SEE," said Captain Pinochle, as he released the cord that was attached to the fog horn valve of the lighthouse, "dat der Colonel Roosevelt has escaped der sleepless sickness of der jungle."

"You mean 'sleeping sickness,'" corrected the Pilot, "so called because the first symptoms are when the victim falls into a stupor from which he seldom can be aroused."

"Effery vord I say iss true," replied the Captain angrily, "und dis happened on board of der Uncle Sam. Der cabin boy, Hans, hat been hunting in der jungle mit a party of fisherners vile ve vere stopping off Cape Town taking for coal.

What Are the Ten Greatest Novels? $25 in Prizes for the Best Ideas

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S latest prize contest has already created widespread interest. Yesterday and to-day several hundred replies were received, and the variety of opinions expressed indicates that the contest will prove a most interesting one.

This time the contest concerns novels. Here is the proposition:

WHICH ARE THE TEN BEST AND GREATEST NOVELS?

The AMERICAN likes to encourage good reading and wants the opinions of its readers.

The idea is not which are the most interesting, which are the so-called "best sellers," but which ten books convey in the form of an interesting story the greatest amount of useful information, and at the same time provoke in the reader the greatest amount of useful thought.

The AMERICAN offers $25 in prizes to stimulate interest in the matter. In order to avoid sad heart burnings and jealousies in Indiana, it has been decided to exclude from the discussion those novels that rank in a region of Niagara from the press, and that vanish into the sea of forgetfulness, about as quickly as Niagara's waves vanish into the ocean.

$25 in Prizes.

Send to your list of the ten greatest novels—the ten that do most to interest, to cheer the lives of those that read them, and at the same time to convey useful information and stir up useful, noble thought.

For the best list the AMERICAN will give a prize of $10; for the next best a prize of $5; and for the next ten, prizes of $1 each. The winning lists will be adjudged by a committee of Boston literary people.

Address "Best Novels" Editor, BOSTON AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, Boston.

Greatest Day of Music in City's History; Crowds See Opera House Productions

THE greatest musical feast ever offered to the people of Boston was set before them yesterday, when four operas were performed, two by the Metropolitan Opera Company and two by the Manhattan Company. The appearance of Bonci and the Russian dancers in the afternoon and Caruso at night at the Boston Opera House drew great throngs to that house, while Mary Garden, who performed the phenomenal feat of singing twice in one day, brought fair sized audiences to the Boston Theatre.

By CLEMENT L. POLLOCK.

THE humor and pathos of that Bohemia of which our own John Boyle O'Reilly so nobly sang was depicted on the stage of the Boston Opera House last night by the Metropolitan Opera Company in a manner that blended laughter and tears.

The opera was Puccini's "La Boheme." It has been sung here many times. Probably it was never presented with a better or more human cast. It was a well rounded, highly satisfactory performance to a very large audience. This much could be told by the spontaneity and heartiness of the applause.

Caruso was the Rodolfo. He was in his element in the hilarious and hungry moments in the garret. He cavorted about like a big boy with his first trousers on. And incidentally the noted tenor wore a pair of trousers at the lioness pedal pattern that has been seen or heard in Boston in many a long day. But they helped the illusion.

Equally effective was he in the more tragic moments. He sang with a golden voice.

Alma Gluck a Realistic Mimi.

The Mimi of Miss Alma Gluck was a realistic picture. She has a strong, sweet, tender, sympathetic voice.

Miss Leonora Sparkes was a charming Musetta.

Strong and virile, yet boyish—befitting the role—was the Marcello of Dinh Gilly. He has a rich, glowing baritone and is a splendid actor. Podesti conducted the opera with appreciation. There were many encores and baskets of flowers for the singers.

TO-DAY'S OPERH

The Manhattan Opera Company produces Offenbach's melodious opera, "Tales of Hoffman," this afternoon, and a double bill, "Daughter of the Regiment" and "Navarraise," to-night at the Boston Theatre.

How to Avoid Kidney Troubles

There is so much kidney and bladder trouble lately that many will be glad to have the following prescription. Go to any well-stocked drug store and get six ounces good, pure gin and mix with one-half ounce fluid extract buchu and one-half ounce marax compound. Shake these well together and take one to two teaspoonfuls three times a day after meals. It will quickly and permanently cure lame back, rheumatic pains in the joints, highly colored urine, frequent, scanty or burning urination, dizziness, pains in the head, all of which are due to weak or deranged kidneys, bladder or urinary passages.

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

"GRISELIDIS," styled a lyric tale and prologue, composed by Jules Massenet, was performed for the first time in Boston at the Boston Theatre last night with Mary Garden in the title role. The small audience witnessed an impressive performance of a very beautiful work.

"Griselidis" is charming in the manner that "Le Jongleur of Notre Dame" is charming. There is an atmosphere of devoutness, in spite of the introduction of a comic devil who is henpecked by his lieutenant of a wife. The story is that of Patient Grisel adapted for operatic purposes. In the opera it is the devil, and not the husband, who abuses the patient wife and puts temptation in her way, only to prove her strength.

An Exquisite Second Act.

The second act of "Griselidis" is exquisite, as regards music, story and stage setting. The temptation of Griselidis by the apparition of her old lover Alain is enthrallingly dramatic, the rich orchestration rising to a soul moving climax when the appearance of the little child saves the wife from wrong.

Mary Garden as Griselidis is seen in a new phase, that of a meek, devout and virtuous wife. In spite of her appearance in "Le Jongleur" in the afternoon she was sweetly and mournfully and without strain, and in the second act thrilled and stirred by her powerful acting.

David Devries is a French tenor with a clear, bell-like voice of moderate breadth. He is an excellent actor and made an effective Alain.

Huberdeau sings the trying bass music of the Devil in a thoroughly satisfying manner and is humorous in a conventional way. Dufranne is impressive as the Marquis and Madame Walter-Villa sufficiently vivacious as the Devil's Wife.

Mary Garden as the Juggler.

The performance of "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame" in the afternoon differed from that of last season in that Renaud replaced Gilibert as Boniface, the abbey cook. The famous baritone was very dramatic and sang the beautiful story of the sage flower very beautifully.

The opera was written for a tenor in the title role and only the insistence of Mary Garden that she would have to sing the Juggler persuaded him to write it for a soprano. Miss Garden brings all her skill as an actress to making a boyish penitent and in spite of the handicap of sex succeeds remarkably well.

ASKS A DIVORCE ON GROUNDS OF CRUELTY

Mrs. Eva Elizabeth Barnes of Braintree filed papers to-day with the clerk of the Norfolk Superior Court in Dedham for a separation from her husband, Alfred S. Barnes of New York. She alleges cruel and abusive treatment and names Mabel Magee. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes were married in Lynn, June 25, 1894, and lived in that city, Salem and Swampscott.

YOUNG RUSSIAN DANCER IN FAMED BALLET "COPPELIA"

© MUSKRAM STUDIO

Anna Pavlowa.

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

THE ballet, that art form which tells a story by music pantomime and dancing, although always popular in Europe, is practically unknown to Americans of this generation. The revival of Delibes' ballet "Coppelia" at the Boston opera House yesterday afternoon, therefore, attracted a large audience.

It followed a performance of "Marta," in which Bonci, Louise Homer, Berenice de Pasquale and Didur appeared and served as an introduction of the famous Russian dancers, Anna Pavlowa and Michael Mordkin.

The story of the ballet is somewhat similar to one of the incidents in "The Tales of Hoffman." A youth falls in love with a mechanical doll, thinking it alive, and his sweetheart, in an effort to win him back, substitutes herself for the doll.

Anna Pavlowa is a tall, slender bright-eyed girl with very dark hair and twinkling feet. Mordkin is also tall and graceful as a flying bird. The two dancers seem to float about in the air, poising occasionally upon the ground only to take fresh flight. Pavlowa bursts herself into the arms of Mordkin like a driven arrow, or darts hither and thither like a beautiful butterfly. She is a be dancer of amazing grace and he is a bit farther for her flights.

The Metropolitan Opera ballet inside a beautiful setting for the two stars and the concerted dances were thoroughly enjoyable.

Delibes never wrote more beautiful music than for this ballet, which has always been a favorite in Europe.

The comic opera "Marta" is full of beautiful melodies of a light character. When sung in English with clever singing actors it should be wholly delightful, but sung in Italian by grand opera singers who do not bother to act, it is tiresome to a high degree.

Berenice de Pasquali, a former Boston girl, was heard in the role of Lady Harriet and not content that she is hardly suited of the standard supposed to be required by the leading opera house of the world. Her voice is light and uncertain and it is not properly controlled.

Russell, will preside, and the secretary-treasurer, Frederic H. Vinex and Francis Peabody, Jr., will speak of the past work of the organization. The dinner promises to be the most pleasant and successful function ever held by the association, and a large attendance is promised.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

STATE ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

A relieving red letter in a day of dark hues is the odd-lot buying. The small investor with his slender purse came in evidence, for the first time since the last months of 1907. Commission houses finding not some business. The orders were not large in volume, but they were many scrous; what is more to the point, they situated a belief that there were bargains in the stock markets a faith clearly not shared by the many seasoned operators who assailed values repeatedly.

$ $ $

In the past, the appearance of the small bargain hunter has signalled the beginning of the end of a bear campaign. The sign may fail this time for the reason that important elements of notoriously are not agreed on the financial situation. The circumstance that the whole world is as obvious as a chasm, it was also manifested by the pronounced weakness of all the stocks having the Standard Oil earmark.

$ $ $

Strokes of labor unions are becoming less of a threat owing to the action of no big corporations in meeting demands or going with conciliation and voluntary wage increases. Pennsylvania's increase of 6 per cent, but a powerful influence in this respect, and private reports are heard of other roads planning to follow this example. In the same market, however, this increase of Pennsylvania was accepted as evidence that the operating excesses would all be increased materially. The traders forget that freight rates are also to be increased and that the public is going to pay the freight.

$ $ $

Recent developments in the oil fields of California show that the Kern Trading and Oil Company, which is owned entirely by the Southern Pacific Company, has increased in value in a wonderful manner based on the market of adjoining properties, the Kern company is worth $26,000,000 now. Of course, it could not be sold for that much in the market, but figures on that value on the actual selling prices of other reputable companies.

$ $ $

Peculiar transactions are taking place in steel. One interest is known to have liquidated 100,000 shares of the preferred stock since January 1. This preferred stock has not been offered, but the broker having the matter in charge has been instructed to supply the bids. There are other market operations that look like preparatives for a big advance in the Steel common dividend. Such an advance would naturally weaken the position of the preferred stock.

An interview with President Earling of the St. Paul may be read in various ways. He states the St. Paul is finishing the work commenced some time ago, chiefly on the Puget Sound lines and in extensive terminal improvements in Tacoma. But nothing now will be undertaken. Earling considers the financial outlook somewhat unfavorable, though he adds that the Stock Exchange community does not represent the business situation, which he found excellent. He predicts the best year in the history of the West, especially in the far West. Immigration in the Northwestern territory is the heaviest ever chronicled. He admits that the St. Paul is thoroughly exploiting the trans-Pacific freight with results highly gratifying. He found the conditions of coal like much better than might have been expected after the extremely inclement weather of last Winter.

Copper brokers have finally decided that the Granby incident is a full agreement of a stocks of new copper companies, because it shows that old mines are on the point of exhaustion. Of course, if the reports of other copper companies are as reliable as Granby's last official report, it is possible that there may not be an excessive copper production. In any event, there is nothing discouraging in the situation for owners of prosperity stocks, for even the copper companies that will get all the benefit of the big merger. They are the ones that can best go through a period of depression, since it costs less to curtail production in them than in any of the others.

Authorities in the copper trade are agreed that the statement of the Producers' Association for March will show about a stand-off between production and deliveries or possibly a negligible increase in metal stocks in the country. In any event, this will be the most vital feature of the report, in regard to its show a falling off of about 200,000 pounds a day as compared with January and a decrease of approximately 475,000 pounds a day as compared with the record February per diem production.

There is such a thing as manipulating a stock downward as well as upward, and the downward movement always causes more suffering than an upward one. Even a check by break still needs a responsible explanation, and it needs it very quickly.

Volume 1, No. 1, of the "New York Curb Weekly," has made its appearance, and it is a very thrifty looking publication. It is published every Saturday by the Curb Publishing Company, James J. Riley, president, and F. M. V. Miller, secretary and treasurer.

Quite an outside market has developed in United Verde Extension stock, and deals are said from the new vein show as high as 47 per cent. copper and $16 in gold, with two or three ounces of silver.

The sharp decline in First National stock on the curb is due to talk of a $2 assessment. The company has some refunding to attend to in the immediate future.

The many Boston friends of Charles W. Grant will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed to take charge of Spencer, Thompson, Towle & Co.'s New York office.

Statistician Frank A. Rugles figures total dividend and interest payments in Boston next month at $28,591,000, which compares with $27,038,757 six months ago and $28,236,708 a year ago.

STOCKS WEAK; THEN A RALLY

STATE STREET, March 31.—Stocks developed further weakness in the opening hour, but gathered considerable speed and a fair-sized rally in the late forenoon. There was a continuance of dribbling liquidation in early dealings on a rumor that an informal vote had been taken by the Supreme Court on both the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases, although no prediction as to the result of the vote was ventured.

Copper shares showed less pressure in the local market, although they had a weak spell in the early trading, particularly the Lake Superior issues. Arizona Commercial made a low of 23¼, but rallied 2 points and Calumet & Arizona recovered 3 2 points also. Granby was steady. Wolverine declined 5 points, but Mexico Land preferred opened off 5 points on a lack of demand, but recovered 2 points of it.

London showed a firmer list of prices for American stocks, although the market there was restricted for all but rubber shares, in which a further quoted was reported.

Amalgamated, Reading and Union Pacific were the first to respond to the over-sold condition of the Wall Street market, the first named fell 2 points, but recovered ⅝ from the low. Steel shares also showed some snap, recovering 1½ points from a point to 82⅝. Canadian Pacific did not maintain yesterday's buoyancy, although it was by no means weak.

The Dreadful Murder That Shocks New York

Nothing More Pitiful, More Abhorrent, More Brutal, Could Possibly Be Conceived

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

In the city of New York at this moment the murder of a poor girl, a child only fifteen years old, overshadows all the news of the day. It throws into forgetfulness the loud reports of Roosevelt's doings and sayings; it makes of the death of a Supreme Court judge a mere news item; it cuts down the interest in the fate of rascals accused and rascals accusing in the State Senate at Albany.

This overwhelming interest in the death of poor little Ruth Wheeler will be called by some morbid sentimentalism. And by others it will be said that overwhelming public interest in a dreadful murder proves the public's LOW TASTE.

But it is to the public's honor that the feeling of interest, of horror and of rage at the news of this murder should overshadow all else in the public mind.

For the murder reveals the dreadful conditions and dangers of helpless human beings, friendless young girls, striving to make a living under the conditions of our vile, miscalled "civilization."

This poor child was seeking work that she might help support her mother. She went from place to place in vain, until at length she came in contact with the dreadful creature that murdered her when he learned that she could not be persuaded or frightened into joining the great army of unhappy girls forced into the unspeakable life of "the white slave."

The girl was smothered, according to the evidence of the doctors, and burned while still alive, and then dismembered. Only a miracle, apparently, made it possible to identify the poor child when the remains of her body were found.

Could there be anything more dreadful than the fate of this unhappy girl—good, earnest, seeking for an opportunity to work to support her mother, only to die under such horrible conditions of suffering and of fear?

Remember that this crime against humanity was not the sporadic, violent, exceptional act of an individual brutal monster.

It is not as though some child had been seized by a savage, or a gorilla, or a maniac, and tortured and butchered. Such things are horrible enough, but they are not horrible as the death of Ruth Wheeler is horrible.

For that poor child's murder was absolutely a part of the political system and government of New York City.

The man that butchered that child is one of thousands that pay their blackmail regularly to the men that control New York City!

The murderer of that girl was a type of the regularly enrolled contributors to public official life in New York! He was one of the cadets in the white slave traffic. That murder was a part of the business that has been revealed repeatedly, and shamefully ignored, or brutally and arrogantly denied by the men in Tammany Hall that have been taking the cash of these beasts that murder young girls, or condemn them to lives infinitely worse than a death by murder.

Well may the people of a city, disgraced by such a crime and disgraced permanently and every day by such a system, forget everything else when the horror of this crime and the shame of this system are brought back to them; when they have put before their eyes—smothered and burned and hacked—the poor body of a child struggling for a living in the maelstrom of brutality and corruption and hard-hearted selfishness.

To take the man that murdered her and kill him—that will be done, of course—WILL NOT BE ENOUGH.

The men back of the White Slave Traffic, the men back of police corruption, the small political bosses that take the tribute of vice and infamy and hand it up to the heads of Tammany Hall, THOSE are the men—and especially the heads of Tammany Hall—that should be made to pay for this murder and to realize its meaning.

Tammany is the murderer; Tammany, with her system of legalized crime, with her regular system of fixed charges for the right to be a pickpocket, or a confidence man, or a white slave dealer and occasional white slave murderer.

The people in this murder see one of the direct fruits of the shameful system which they have permitted to exist through indifference or selfish neglect of public duty. Well may the crime shame them! And well may the tortured, terrified face of that poor girl disturb their complacent peace of mind!

Is It Anybody's Business to Stop This Nonsense?

Or Must Every Promoted Cheap Nobody Build His Own Elevator at Public Expense?

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

A Chicago grocer named MacVeagh—conspicuously known to the people of the country in connection with rather strenuous opposition to the people's efforts to get pure food—has been promoted, and is now the Secretary of the Treasury.

This "gentleman" feels his personal importance and dignity. The business of rolling up little packages of sugar and handing them out with a "Thank you, ma'am; is that all, ma'am?" seems to have faded from his memory.

The contact of vulgar and commonplace people is painful to this distinguished Chicago aristocrat, and he is having built at the public expense in the public Treasury Building an elevator exclusively for his own use.

There are four elevators now in the Treasury building. They are capable of carrying Mr. MacVeagh, the Secretary of the Treasury, and all others that have business in the building.

Caruso's Idea of the Boston Type of Man

It is too bad that Mr. Enrico Caruso, the golden-throated tenor, is not planning to pass the Summer in Boston. Then for might rub elbows with enough Bostonians to become familiar with the real "Boston type."

Mr. Caruso, who is gifted so superbly with song, also has a knack at sketching. He can put on paper not "the thing as he sees it," as Kipling wrote, but the thing as he thinks he sees it.

And Mr. Caruso thinks he sees us as in his sketch published herewith.

This picture is a little sketch which Caruso's facile fingers drew as readily as his wonderful throat makes vocal music. Having drawn the sketch and made the bow good and sharp, Mr. Caruso said to his audience:

"Who is it? Oh, I don't know—a Boston type—that's all."

Caruso, surveying us on the street, in our hotels and from the Boston Opera House stage particularly, thinks he sees us thus. He really does not see us thus. He only thinks so.

The Boston Type is not the picked chicken style of individual illustrated in the Caruso sketch. Nor does the Boston Type—not even when dressed for formal occasion—choke himself in any such strangulation collar as Caruso depicts.

The Boston Type, Esteemed Caruso, is a Man, full-blooded, big-hearted, stout-muscled, energetic, living, breathing human being of a man.

The Boston type—no one person in particular, but the average of our clever, sturdy citizenship—is very much alive. He is up and doing. Sometimes he doesn't do as wisely as he might, but he does something, and does it with more of a will than the gentleman of frigid angles in the Caruso sketch would ever dream of exerting.

The Boston type hustles—our elevated service teaches him that if nothing else does. The Boston type works hard and plays hard. The Boston type rushes out to the ball game and has a riotously good time with his fellow-types. Then, if he so inclines, the Boston type dons the accepted evening garb and goes to the Boston Opera House to listen to Enrico Caruso and Geraldine Farrar and to the Boston Theatre to hear John McCormack and Luisa Tetrazzini.

Then he gets busy again with his every-day world of life and energy and work and fun. For our Boston type is very much a man—not a toothpick.

This is the way Mr. Caruso thinks Boston men look.

Steena Oleson

She Tries the Stage
She Ban Honest Tu

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"Ay skol having night off to-night after dinner," said Steena.

"But this isn't your regular night off," ventured the wife.

"Ay skol having night off just the same," returned Steena. "Ay han going for chance to go on stage. Ay han going to sing in vun of dose har theeters vat you skol getting the hook. Ya see, Maester Tenkins han tal me all about it after he hear me sing, and so Ay han going to take a chance."

"All right, Steena, you may go. But what are you going to sing?

"Ay know plenty songs. Ay aut sure yust now vich songs Ay skol sing. But you Ay com to theeter Ay skol mak up my mind."

And so Steena went, and, just for the fun of the thing, we passed up a card with her name on it to the "theeter," where our blond jewel was going to see if she could jimmy her way to the stage. I don't know how much pleasure we might have drawn at the card party, but I feel that both of us were amply repaid for making the switch in our plans.

It was one of the regulation amateur nights, and the hook was worked overtime. A tiny little newsboy, who danced, and a sweet-faced girlie, who sang ballads, were the only fortunates, both of them receiving much kind applause and real money from the boxes.

Our ambitious servant came about fifth on the programme, but she made up for her long wait by the brevity of her performance.

"Ladies and gentlemen, the next number will be Miss Steena Oleson, who has come all the way down here from Chelsea to sing you two ballads. Thanking you——"

"That's too far to come!"

"Back to Chelsea!"

"Oh, you hook!"

Steena wasn't daunted by this sinister reception, even if she understood its import. Clearing her fat throat, she began:

"Mid dese green fields of Wirginia——"

"Nix!"

"Good night!"

"Get the hook!"

"Ladies and gentlemen," she called out, "how can Ay sengling my song ef yu sin't listening? Ef yu skol yust shut yure mouths Ay can seng purty gude, but yu don't listen."

She didn't get any further. Two honest stage hands, with what looked like a magnified shepherd crook, dragged away our bleating lamb, and the war was over.

"Well, Steena," said my wife at breakfast next morning, "how did you get along with your songs?"

"Ay seng fine," was the astonishing reply. "Ay seng two songs and have to seng the last verse all over. But Ay don't tenk Ay care for going on the stage. Ay tenk dis har home life han better for me. After Ay tenk it all over, Ay tenk Ay skol not going on stage, var dar bau all dese har pitfalls and snares."

"That's right, Steena," said the wife, marvelling at Steena's powers of prevarication. "Stay with us. You are such a good, honest girl."

"Oh, yes, Ay han honest all right," she answered us. And I half believe she thinks so.

This Picture and That

By WEX JONES

IN THE STORY

The Cub Reporter—who has had nothing to eat for three days—appears before the Cold Hearted City Editor, who says curtly, "Go out and find the murderer of Shaw."

Shaw is a millionaire who was mysteriously murdered three days before, and all the police and all the newspaper men have been trying to trace the assassin. The Cold Hearted City Editor, y'understand, gives the Cub Reporter his assignment to choke him off!

The C. R. reels out from the presence of the C. H. C. E., being faint from lack of food and sits down on the sidewalk to think. "Shaw was murdered," he reasons, "He must have been murdered for something. Being a millionaire, he was probably murdered for money. Ergo, find a man with money and you have the criminal." It was then that the C. R. recollected having seen a one-dollar bill in the possession of the C. H. C. E. Rushing back to the office, the Cub accuses the C. H. C. E. of the crime, and the accused breaks down and dictates a full confession, which is of course an exclusive story for the C. R. In consequence he is given the special Cub Reporter job, which is so frequently referred to in those throbbing tales of newspaper life.

The Intrepid Hunter was forcing his way afoot through the tall grass, when suddenly a low, muffled roar attracted his attention and at looking quickly around he saw a huge black-maned lion bounding toward him. Jumping in the air, the I. H. let the ferocious brute rush underneath, and then alighted with both feet upon the animal's back. After balancing himself thus for some ten miles the L. H. stooped down down and pulled the lion's right ear so that the brute was forced to run in a large circle, which soon brought it in front of the camera. The I. H. then steered it up to his typewriter, when he jumped off and began to write his story at one beau per.

IN REAL LIFE

The Cub Reporter, jingling large quantities of coin in his pocket, and having his pockets bulged with rolls of bills, strolls carelessly into the office of the Universe and greets the Warm Hearted City Editor with, "Hello, Kid; any story worth while for me to go out on? The W. H. C. E. replies that there's that Shaw murder case, to which the C. R. says, "Nix; too cold. Besides I was out on that yesterday, and couldn't dig up anything. I'm tired of it, anyway. Gimme something fresh." "There's a flying machine——" "Not on your life. If a fellow doesn't get scorched by the fire, he's quite likely to get shot. Can't you dig up something nicer than that? What's on the bill, Kid, at the time, anyhow?" "The Mayor's going to make a speech on fire-fighting" "Can that stuff, kid. You'll never find me butting into any of those dull speechmaking stunts. I want action for mine. Well, I guess there isn't anything I can do for you to-day, so I'll go for a little spin in my new car. See you at the fight to-night? No? By-bye then, kiddo. Stick to the job, and you will be a C. R. some day yourself."

Mounted upon a fleet pony, the Hunter was slowly traversing the plain in search of lions. At last his patient search was rewarded, and he saw one going curiously at him. This was his cue to spur the pony and put as much distance as possible between himself and the sulky lion.

"Foiled again," muttered the Hunter, as he reflected upon the disappointment of the evidently hungry animal he had thus deftly eluded. It was at this moment that a second lion suddenly appeared by the side of the Hunter, who leaned over and smote the marauder with a copy of Ibsen he happened to be carrying that day. With a howl of rage the lion fled, and the Hunter returned to camp for congratulations.
